LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Czechoslovakia:
Britain's Interest in Crisis

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—I venture to believe that the two enclosed letters which appeared in "The Times" on various dates last month also will prove of interest to your readers.

SUDETIA.

Shanghai, June 21.

Sir,—It has been pointed out in your columns that violence would be done to the principle of self-determination if the Czechoslovak Republic were to be destroyed and its territories distributed among other states. Such a development would be a disaster; nevertheless the principle of self-determination cannot be invoked on behalf of the independence of the Czechs and rejected in respect of the Sudeten Germans. The opportunity for the Sudeten Germans to control their own destinies may well be the only practical means of ensuring the continued independence of the Czechs.

The justice of the Sudeten German claim can hardly be denied by those who hold that self-determination was rightly advanced by the Allies as their aim in the Great War, and who believe in adhering to principle. But principle is abandoned by some, on the supposed ground that ethnographical distribution does not lend itself to the demarcation of districts mainly German and contiguous to the German frontier, and that a Czechoslovakia shorn of its predominantly German districts would not be "viable." The facts, however, when looked at without bias, point the other way.

A careful study of the 1930 census figures shows large and compact areas close to the frontier, where German-speaking people form over 70 per cent—in much of the area, over 80 per cent—of the population. The boundary between the predominantly German areas and the overwhelmingly Czech lands is remarkably sharp and very reasonably straight. The decline in the proportion of Germans to Czechs, as between one district and another, is so sudden that the boundary of the region where the Germans are more than 50 per cent. very largely coincides with that of the zone where there are over 70 per cent., and even, along much of the line, with the limit of the zone over 50 per cent. of Germans. On the Czech side of this line, zones where Germans are as numerous as 30 per cent. are very few indeed. Thus, one crosses quickly from overwhelmingly German to overwhelmingly Czech country. The two populations do not shade off gradually, as in many other cases of ethnographic borderlands, through wide belts of evenly divided people.

It would be perfectly practicable, should it become necessary, to separate altogether from the Republic the whole of the predominantly German areas, with the exception of the Moravske Trebova district in Northern Moravia, where a large island of Germans lies across two vital railways. Such separation would not damage the shape or convenience of the territory of the Republic, save by the sacrifice of a mountain frontier which facilitates defence; the value of this frontier has in any case been undermined by the presence of German forces on the non-mountainous Austrian border. The important industrial town Pizen—in German Pilsen—(from which the Skoda arsenal is being at least partly removed to Slovakia) is inside the Czech ethnographic area.

A division along the 50 per cent. line would give to the German speaking districts (whatever future might be devised for them) a Czech minority of some 400,000. On the other side, from a quarter to a third (probably something under a million) of the Germans would be left behind, many of them in the big Czech towns, where they form absolutely a large community, but relatively a small part of the local population. Self-determination can only mean giving effect to the wishes of the majority, and in this case it is (on either side) an overwhelming majority. The fact that there is no solution, save that of good treatment, for the disadvantages of people who are a true minority in their own areas does not affect the desirability of applying self-determination to others who, in well defined districts near the frontier, are almost solidly German.

British people would hardly be willing to make sacrifices on behalf of the Czechs if actual hostilities were to result from the refusal of the Czechoslovak Republic to consider a settlement on these lines.

NOEL-BUXTON.

16, Cowley Street, Westminister, May 6.

Sir,—I find public opinion in Germany still anxious for friendly relations with Great Britain, but they are loosing faith in our national sincerity and political sense. As regards sincerity many of them ask, for instance, how it is that we who do profess to believe in liberty and the self-determination of peoples should deny the will of the Sudeten Germans—solid block of three and a half millions—to liberate themselves from the rule of the Czechs who, in that ethnographical absurdity called Czechoslovakia, are actually in a minority among the combined numbers of Germans, Poles, Hungarians, Slovaks, and Ruthenians whom they govern with no light hand. Why, they ask, does England object to those Sudeten Germans linking up with their fellow Germans if that is their desire, and by what right do we object? I confess I don't know the right answer.

At the present time the German leaders, I am told, are trying to calm down these Sudeten Germans in order to avoid any popular explosion which might lead to the menace of a European War if England and France insist upon upholding the integrity of Czechoslovakia. But here is another question they ask: Why should Europe be even remotely threatened by a war which would lead to frightful horrors and general ruin in order to uphold an artificial State which reproduces in a small area the mixture of races of the Old Austro-Hungarian Empire? Within 24 hours of war Czechoslovakia would have disappeared off the map and Europe would be fighting to the death for a non-existent State which was a violation of all racial ideals. Is that, they ask, England's present line of policy? If so, where is the sense of it: That question is also hard to answer.

PHILIP GIBBS.

Vienna, May 7.

A Sudeten German's View

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—In your issue of yesterday a letter by Gilbert Murray sent to "The Times" on May 16 was reproduced in full.

Permit me to raise a few points on the matter discussed therein.

Englishmen of moderate views by now have undoubtedly realized that the claims put forward by the Sudeten Germans, as represented by Konrad Henlein, are just and cannot be shelved any longer. They cannot be treated with the same disregard as, for instance, the 24 petitions put before the League of Nations by the Sudeten Germans, which did not receive the slightest attention. Mr. Gilbert Murray should be well aware of this fact as he was intimately concerned in the "protection" of Minorities by the Council of the League for a period of four years.

1. Whereas Mr. Benes, as is claimed, was always found fair-minded and ready to help, what good did it to the Minorities? Actions are wanted and not words. Mr. Benes also has promised political equality on "Swiss Principles" for all nations living in Czechoslovakia. Where is the fulfilment of this promise? But it will have to be executed, and in full at that, as otherwise the security of the composite State, "the most successful and best governed and conducted of the States created by the Great War" (by brute force) is at stake. The situation has not deteriorated of late years, as Mr. Murray likes to have it; at times it was even worse, but there was nobody who would have lifted a finger for the delivery of the Czechs.

2. Mr. Murray is quite right. A distinction must be made between the programme by the extreme leftist Jaksch and Konrad Henlein respectively, as the latter has 90 per cent. of the German population in Czechoslovakia behind him, as the results of the elections concluded on June 12 have shown clearly.

3. Never has Henlein, or for that matter Hitler, claimed authority over such regions as inhabited by Czechs or other nationals. Mr. Murray seems not to know very well what the aims of the German National Socialism are. Simply the unification of all Germans, if such is feasible ethnographically and politically, and where such is not the case, proper and just treatment of German Minorities. All that can be achieved very peacefully, so that there exists no danger for the Skoda armaments factories and the Rumanian oil fields. The atrocities created by the Versailles system have to disappear, and rightly so, and only then there will be peace in Europe, which will enable same to concentrate its efforts in order to solve problems more important, especially so for England, in this disturbed world.

SUDETEN GERMAN.

Shanghai, June 21.

This Selfish World:
The Cause of all Troubles

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—One is constantly hearing about this world being in a fearful mess. That it has gone crazy, there is no doubt, but it is not the fault of dictators, communism, war or threat of war and oppression, unemployment and strikes, poor business, hopeless, exchange rates, etc., etc., as so many claim. The real blame rests with the people themselves—merchants, captains of industry—those in charge of affairs. Their attitude is one of grab, grab, grab; they think only of themselves with scant regard for their employees. What can one expect when these men, whom the young are taught to respect and emulate, are so predatory, so guileful!

At a gathering the other evening, when the subject of exchange became a bit warm (for the present unfavourable rate and exceedingly high cost of living make it a vital question to most foreigners), a manager of a well-known firm here in the Far East superiorly dismissed the matter with the remark that he had solved it by adjusting his salary several weeks ago. When asked if that were the action of the firm all along the line, we were told, "Adjustments for the staff were now being considered."

Then we wonder why the world is in such a mess? It is just this grabbing, selfish attitude that is making us all beasts, and it is these men, in key positions, who are bringing it all about.

The Cost of Living:
Some Charges Overlooked

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—RESTIVE has certainly made an interesting announcement regarding cost of living and non-increases in salaries and I fully agree with his sentiments. However, when citing his example, butter, he appears to have overlooked such items as the cost of freight, handling charges, insurance, storage, etc., not forgetting refrigeration, the latter, I should imagine, being an expensive necessity, en route and in Shanghai.

Being neither a taipan or a dealer in butter, I am concerned with this commodity only in so far that it helps to make bread more palatable.

Slightly Exaggerated:
Great Bombing Feat

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—One of the records for amateurish exaggeration, to which you referred in a short editorial yesterday, must have been the report of the eight heavy Chinese bombers who, at a height of 3,000 metres, "heavily bombed Japanese craft below, four of which were reported sunk and one badly damaged." Three thousand metres is nearly 10,000 feet, not far short of two miles.

After watching the many unsuccessful efforts to bomb the Idzumo at a tenth of this height, the sinking of four warships in one attack by eight bombers flying at this unusual height is an event not to be lightly passed over.

The Clubs of Pall Mall

AN "IMPIOUS STRANGER" DISAPPROVES THE AIR OF POLITE DISDAIN WITH WHICH LONDON CLUBS REGARD THE COMMON HERD.

With the zeal of a crusader, Hilaire Belloc is explaining to the British people that they are an aristocratic race, aristocratically governed, and like it very much indeed.

His thesis is sound and can easily be illustrated by taking a gentle stroll in the area sacred to clubdom, which is found in Pall Mall, St. James's Street, and St. James's Square. Here is a neighbourhood where we feel and know that we are rubbing shoulders with those who control the might of England and where there is an atmosphere of restrained opulence, natural assumption of superiority, which does not excite the slightest hostility.

Their Cloistral Seclusion

To the impious stranger these clubs present a marble exterior of polite disdain; they offer no outward sign which will give a clue to their name or purpose and to ask the janitor at the entrance portal the name of the club he guards would be a social sin comparable to asking the price of the Doomsday Book from the attendant at the Record Office or ringing the bell at a tea shop; the look on the face of the janitor, attendant or waitress will effectually stop a second offence.

The warmth of the club is reserved for members; some do not permit visitors under any circumstances, and all of them frown on the intrusion of women, as is customary among all conquering races.

Taking them by and large, the members of these clubs are the most influential class in all England, and money is most certainly not of itself a passport for admission to membership, as many rich social climbers have found out to their chagrin. In the main, membership is only possible to approved representatives of our great hereditary ruling hierarchy and the glittering retinue of professional collaborators.

Respectable Alternatives

Few English rulers would be so crude as to put half the people in concentration camps because they did not like the look of their faces. No, they will let them live happily ever after in Manchester, West Ham, Halifax, Wednesbury, Normanton, and Glasgow, and will not resent an occasional intrusion into the pleasance of Pall Mall. For those who cannot quite enjoy Manchester or Glasgow and who are bitten with the bug of intellectual superiority, there are the respectable wildernesses of Hampstead Garden Suburb, Boars Hill at Oxford, a University Settlement, and the City of Edinburgh, which looks as though it was always Sunday afternoon.

One other word before the walk. Although these clubs are most exclusive, they do in one matter give very material help to the thousands of working men's clubs. Those who know the burning itch with which the licensing trade and secondary rulers have to send the police into workmen's clubs at any time will appreciate the power of the Pall Mall clubs, who have succeeded in keeping this inspector business at bay. A law in England must apply—at least in theory—to all or none, and the Home Office have not yet produced a man sufficiently clever to devise a law which will permit the police to enter the clubs of workmen without also giving the same power for West End clubs. It is certain that the police will never be given permission to walk into the Athenaeum or the Carlton. It would be too terrible to find, at the Athenaeum a bishop with a double whisky and soda after permitted hours, or a Minister of the Crown celebrating with a few chosen friends at the Carlton after midnight.

The Real McKie

Crossing Trafalgar Square into Cockburn Street, we see, opposite, the formidable looking building known as Canada House. On this site stood, until some time after the war, the Union Club, a resort of Civil Servants not below the rank of the first division. Here would foregather, between 12 and 4, men of moderate incomes, but who did in fact, and still do, enjoy more real power than many alleged dictators or doubtful emperors. Woe betide a Cabinet Minister who falls foul of the unwritten laws which govern the conduct of the top grades of the Civil Service. Lloyd George once found himself, as newly appointed Minister of Munitions, in a room minus all furniture except a table, and whilst he was sitting on that the Office of Works sent a man to collect it.

Proceeding ahead, we pass the offices of various shipping companies and gaze with longing eyes at the maps, models, and time tables, promising ourselves that when superannuation time comes we will do the jolly with a trip round the world before the undertaker becomes too friendly.

The Chaste Athenæum

At the corner of the first opening at Waterloo Place is the United Services Club, where the rulers of the King's Navy and the elite of his Army will settle their differences over a game of billiards and give the law to those privileged to listen to them. Across the road in seen the chaste blue and white sculptured frieze of the Simon Pure Athenaeum. Instinctively we pass quietly in case we disturb the cloister-like peace of the exalted persons who use its unique treasures. Next door is the Travellers, a most exclusive affair. It was here that Tallyrand spent his leisure hours when ambassador in London. This cunning old fox, who had promised to obey no less than thirteen different forms of government and had successfully intrigued against them all, found appreciation of his talents and silence from his mistresses. Its outside appearance at the time of writing is that of a traveller who is too tired to enjoy a wash and brush up.

The next is a ghost in stone. It is the Reform, a citadel which, in the spacious days of Gladstone, was the temple of the Whig iconoclasts. Today it resembles a tomb of the Pharaohs, for its treasures are buried and with true pathos the only notice on its doorway is written round a little circle, which reads: "In case of fire, break the glass."

The larger building next door is that Holy of Holies known as the Carlton. Any person who is not true blue and lacks the rich blood which naturally flows in the veins of all sound Tories would be far too bashful to cross the threshold. It is not done, gentlemen, it is not done. It was at a meeting in this club in 1922 that the reign of Mr. Lloyd George was declared to be at an end.

The R.A.C.

Further, to a big stone building about thirty-five years old known as the R.A.C. (Royal Automobile Club). It was built on the site of the old War Office and it is but fitting that it should be used by a trade which has a casualty list comparable to that of any decent sized war. It is the only club in Pall Mall open to any of His Majesty's subjects who have no special claims save those of good conduct and ability to pay the fees.

By all good rights, the statue of the Duke of Cambridge, which stands in Whitehall, should be inside the R.A.C., for it was on this site that the dauntless soldier played his part as Commander in Chief of the British Army for forty years. It was from this coign of vantage that the gallant gentleman set off to review the troops with the sensible protection of an umbrella in case of rain. It was this following of the example of Jonas Hanway which earned him the popular title of "The Umbrella Duke." He was appointed to the post by his cousin Queen Victoria as a touching example of that well-tried maxim that Charity begins at home. History gives no details of any flashing deeds of valour, victory or strategy, and it may be that statues should be erected for modesty rather than for irksome accomplishments.

We have now done Pall Mall and to turn the corner into the riches of St. James's Street, King Street, and St. James's Square would be too much like outstaying a welcome, and as the choice is between a catalogue or oblivion, then oblivion wins.—Weekly Review.

Mr. Dollar Seeks New Line for Far East

Shipping Service from Seattle Wanted

Seattle, June 20.

Mr. Stanley Dollar, president of the American Mail Line and the Dollar Steamship Lines, was in Seattle today to confer with a committee of civic and business leaders regarding continuation of an American flag shipping business from Seattle to the Orient.

Mr. Dollar expressed willingness to co-operate in any plan advanced that would be both satisfactory and profitable to the Puget Sound area and the United States Maritime Commission.

"I believe the people of Seattle are familiar with the serious difficulties which the American Mail Line faced if we had continued operations under former conditions," he said. He hoped some plan could be worked out whereby the service could be continued.—United Press.

Sixty Years Ago

FROM THE "NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS," OF JUNE 23, 1878

A native of Shanghai, was charged with stealing property belonging to a foreigner from his residence opposite the Racquet Court. The evidence showed that some time ago, vegetables and small articles were often stolen from prosecutor's garden and ultimately the police watched the place. Prisoner was arrested in the act, for which offence he was sentenced to 200 blows and three months' cangue. While he was thus confined prosecutor missed nothing from his premises, but on prisoner's release depredations in the garden were again frequent, among the articles stolen being two porcelain flower stands and two ornamental flower pots. During the night of the 11th instant, a large gander, goose and duck were carried off, and the police apprehended the prisoner on suspicion of being the offender. When questioned, he admitted having stolen all the articles from his premises, and he was taken to the garden where he described how he got the things without being detected. He sold the flower stand and pots to a shopkeeper in the Chihli Road, who is now a coolie in a foreign hong; and he sold the gander, goose and duck, to a fowl dealer in Smith's market. Prisoner was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment while the receiver of the gander, goose and duck was fined $6, and the receiver of the flower stands and pots was mulcted in the penalty of $3.

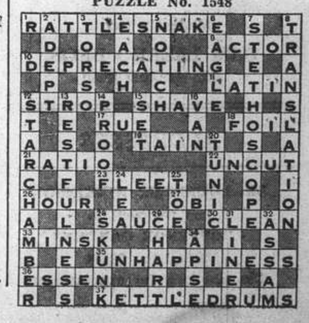
SOLUTION OF LONDON PUZZLE No. 1548



FROM SHANGHAI FOOTLIGHTS AND FILMS

"Daughter of Shanghai"

For its screening today, the Grand announces Anna May Wong and Philip Ahn in the principal roles, supported by Charles Bickford, J. Carrol Naish, Evelyn Brent and Larry Crabbe.

"Werewolf of London"

A thriller, which is guaranteed to send chills down one's spine has been booked for tomorrow by the Metropol. Among the players are Warner Oland, Henry Hull and Valerie Hobson.

"The Adventures of Tom Sawyer"

Starring the new find, Tommy Kelly, the Nanking Theatre as from tomorrow will present the technicolour version of Mark Twain's immortal classical story of American youth.

"Bringing up Baby"

Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant are co-starred at the Cathay Theatre in a "crazy" comedy, supported by Charles Ruggles, May Robson, Walter Catlett and Barry Fitzgerald.

Current Films

CATHAY.—"Bringing up Baby."—When romance starts monkeying with zoology, it starts a riot that sets a new high for hysterical hilarity. The joyous cast includes Katharine Hepburn, Cary Grant, Charlie Ruggles, Barry Fitzgerald, May Robson, and Walter Catlett. Also the official film of the Jo Louis v Nathan Mann fight for the heavyweight championship of the World. Opens today.

GRAND.—"A Daughter of Shanghai."—The story of a beautiful Chinese girl who knew too much to be permitted to live—a girl who knew the inner workings of the world's most inhuman racket, the smuggling of aliens into the United States. With a big cast, headed by Anna May Wong, Philip Ahn, Charles Bickford, Larry Crabbe, Cecil Cunningham and Evelyn Brent. Reviewed elsewhere.

NANKING.—"Marie Walewska."—Starring the incomparable Greta Garbo as Countess Walewska (Polish) and Charles Boyer as Napoleon Bonaparte in a brilliantly glamorous drama of a woman who played a pivotal role in the life of one of history's most famous figures. Last day.

METROPOL.—"Night Spot."—Parkyakarkus heads the featured cast which also includes Gordon Jones. Directed by Christy Cabanne. Last day.

PARIS. — "San Quentin." — California's great prison picture. Among the players are Pat O'Brien, Barton MacLane, Humphrey Bogart and Ann Sheridan. Opens today.

Films Coming

"The Adventures of Tom Sawyer."—Mark Twain's immortal classic brilliantly produced in technicolour, bringing to the screen the newest juvenile sensation, Tommy Kelly. The cast includes Jackie Moran, as Huckleberry Finn, May Robson, Walter Brennan, Victor Jory and Cora Sue Collins. Coming tomorrow to the NANKING.

"Werewolf of London."—A spine-chilling story described as the greatest horror picture screened is based on the legend of the werewolf, a creature half-man and half-wolf which becomes a man-killing beast each month during the full of the moon. The cast includes Henry Hull, Warner Oland and Valerie Hobson. Coming tomorrow to the METROPOL.

"Sailing Along."—Ship ahoy! It's the barge Wiltshire, with a cargo of melody, mirth and romance aboard! A Jessie Matthews picture is a screen event and this is her best yet. The supporting cast includes Roland Young, Barry Mackay, Jack Whiting, Noel Madison, Athene Seyler, Frank Pettingell and Peggy Novak. Coming next to the CATHAY.

"The Barrier."—Suspense, thrills and glowing romance carry Rex Beach's best beloved tale of the North into the "A" division of action pictures. It stars Leo Carrillo and Jean Parker, with James Ellison, Otto Kruger, Robert Barrat, Andy Clyde and Sara Haden in support, coming next to the GRAND.

"Love and Hisses."—Simone Simon, Walter Winchell, Ben Bernie, Joan Davis and Bert Lahr in a fast moving musical comedy. Coming to the CAPITOL.

"Merry-Go-Round of 1938."—Built for laughing purposes, this merry, mad whirl-wind of mirth combines top-line talent of Broadway, the airways and Hollywood such as Bert Lahr, Jimmie Slavo, Billy House, Alice, Brady, Mischa Auer, Joy Hodges, Louise Fazenda, John King, Barbara Read and Dave Apollon and his orchestra. A METROPOL booking.

"The Adventures of Robin Hood."—The deathless romance that has thrilled the world for centuries comes to you with an ideal cast in a blaze of the new perfected technicolour. The makers of "Light Brigade" present a two million dollar production that sets a new standard for screen magnificence. Starring Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland with Basil Rathbone, Claude Rains, Patric Knowles, Eugene Pallette, Alan Hale, Melville Cooper, Ian Hunter and Una O'Connor. Coming to the GRAND.

"Navy Blue and Gold."—Two midshipmen and a girl provide the romantic complications in this thrilling story of life at Annapolis. Florence Rice is the girl—Robert Young and James Stewart are the midshipmen—and the fight is on! Also featured in the cast are Lionel Barrymore, Billie Burke and Tom Brown. Coming to the NANKING.

"The Life of the Party."—New song-and-dance comedy uniting Harriet Hilliard and Gene Raymond for the first time as singing sweethearts involved in hilarious romantic complications fostered by Joe Penner, Parkyakarkus, Victor Moore and Helen Broderick. A METROPOL booking.

"The Barrier"

Based on Rex Beach's story of the same title this film comes to the Grand next, featuring Leo Carrillo, Jean Parker and Otto Kruger.

Undampened By Rain

Persistent rain has failed to dampen the ardor of patrons of the Pavilion, the summer garden having a decided advantage in that it is equipped for both indoor and outdoor dining and dancing. A steady increase is noted, too, in the number of large and small private parties holding dinners at the Pavillion, where Jimmy's famous food is served, including barbecued steak dinners, chop suey, chow mein, mixed grill, Coney Island red hots and country gravy sandwiches. A string orchestra provides music for the afternoon concerts, while Nina Kellan's American band holds forth for the dinner dancing.

"A Day at the Races."—The Marx brothers in one of their best comedies, supported by Allan Jones and Maureen O'Sullivan. Coming to the PARIS.

"Merrily We Live."—Constance Bennett and Brian Aherne form a delightful co-starring team in this uproarious story of one of the daffiest families ever portrayed either on stage or screen. Others in the stellar comedy cast include: Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Patsy Kelly, Ann Dvorak and Tom Brown. Coming to the NANKING.

"Hawaii Calls."—The most famous beauty spots in the Hawaiian Islands including Honolulu's Waikiki Beach, are seen in Bobby Breen's new musicale, with a supporting cast which includes Irvin S. Cobb, Gloria Holden, Ned Sparks, Warren Hull and other screen favourites. Coming to the METROPOL.

Mae West and Clark Gable Teamed

It seems impossible to avoid the topic of new star teams. The latest to be announced is the partnership of Mae West and Clark Gable who are proposed for the leading roles in "New Orleans," an original story by the man who wrote "San Francisco."

It is quite time Mae West had a leading man of her calibre. Gable has all the qualifications of brawn, vigour and full-blooded sex appeal. These two champions of the rough-and-ready school should make a perfect screen match. The story, however, demands renunciation in the last reel. Mae West, as a torch-singing New Orleans belle, sacrifices love and leaves the hero to the youthful ingenue.

Mae West's popularity has been declining rapidly. One group of American exhibitors even went so far as to announce that her name was "poison at the box office." The fact that in the past she has always insisted on writing, casting, and to some extent producing her own films may have something to do with it. M.G.M. have wisely inserted a clause in her contract which confines her activities to acting alone.

Shortage of Films

The cinema exhibitors are in a nasty predicament. So many new cinemas have been built in recent years that competition has become almost cut-throat. As well as showing two star films, many cinemas put on a stage show as an additional attraction. Only the other week a large cinema in a London suburb included a full length performance of the opera "I Pagliacci" in its usual programme. The cast was headed by singers of established reputation, and there was a full orchestra of 35 performers.

The same problem confronts American exhibitors, more specially in the summer months when there is a shortage of films as well as audiences. It is interesting to learn that in America they are tiding over the crisis by showing revivals of old films. Still more interesting is the fact that these revivals, which were issued merely as a stop gap, are proving a greater box office attraction than new films.

For the first time in its history one of the most important Broadway cinemas, which specializes in premières, issued a revival of "Monte Cristo." The film played to $11,000 the first week, takings far bigger than those grossed by the three previous first run releases "Romance in the Dark," "Gaiety Girl" and "The Return of the Scarlet Pimpernel."

Horse and Hound

Tucked cozily in between Jinkee and Szechuen Roads the Horse and Hound Tavern, often spoken of as "the sportsman's rendezvous," is attracting many.

Its staunch supporters maintain that it captures not a little of the atmosphere of an old English inn, and it really is a surprise to walk from off one of Shanghai's busiest thoroughfares into its quiet, dignified interior.

Those who wish to experience again the mellow pleasure of concoctions from the Highlands or more potent Shanghai specialties may well visit the Horse and Hound.

Double Attraction

The Paramount Ballroom continues to attract capacity crowds, the special drawing card being the combined bands of Abie Santos and the regular Paramount orchestra, 22 musicians in all. Instead of being a bedlam of noise, as might well be imagined with 22 musicians playing dance music, the result is quite the opposite, the two bands playing smoothly and in perfect tempo and harmony. The vocal efforts of the two bands are a pleasing feature, there being no fewer than ten singers, including the laders of both bands. The two bands will continue at the ballroom until the end of the current month. On Sunday there will be a tea dance with entertainment.

Indian Boy Star to Remain in London

Korda Proposes Placing Sabu in "Calcutta"

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT

London, May 26.

Sabu, the dusky fourteen-year-old star of "Elephant Boy" and "The Drum," is at the moment in rather the same position as that other little Indian boy in Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream." He is the object of rivalry not between Titania and Oberon but between their modern and prosaically-named counterparts. Denham and RKO. That is to say England has him and America wants him. And England, in the person of Alexander Korda, is being quite firm about keeping him.

R.K.O. are making a film based on Kipling's poem "Gunga Din." Victor McLaglen, Cary Grant and Jack Oakie feature in the cast. It was hoped that Sabu might be secured for an important part. Instead Korda is planning a polo story to be entitled "Calcutta" in which Sabu will make his next appearance.

Future Settled

It is good to know that this youngster's future is being well taken care of. After "Elephant Boy," during the time of the crisis at Denham, it seemed rather problematical. Sabu—incidentally he pronounces it "Shaboo"—used to hang round the studios, a strange little figure in a big camel-hair coat and scarlet turban. Sometimes he was to be seen careering round the studio grounds on his new motor bicycle, but more often he just hung around killing time.

It was a bizarre and unnatural life for a small boy. He was living in a strange country, among strange people and in a totally foreign environment. By birth and upbringing he belonged to one of the lowest castes of India. Then, almost overnight, he found himself a personage of wealth and importance. The change came to him at an impressionable age. He could never have gone back to his old life, and apart from films there would have been no satisfactory future for him in a white man's country.

Korda realizes his responsibility to this attractive little Indian boy. That is partly why he insists on keeping him in England. It is almost certain that if Sabu went to Hollywood he would be hailed as a sensation, spoilt and feted for perhaps a year, and then forgotten. Over here he is being well looked after. He goes to school at Beaconsfield, is treated like any other boy of fourteen, and is perfectly happy in his new life.

Six years ago, Walter Pidgeon swore he would never sing again on the screen or stage, but recently he broke his promise. Director H.C. Potter persuaded him to sing "Old Grey Bonnet," for a scene in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer' "The Shopworn Angel."

Weak Summer Cinemas Condemned

Hollywood, June 21.

Mr. Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers Studios, vigorously condemned other major producers today for feeding loyal patrons a summer diet of weak pictures and saving their important productions for autumn release.

Breaking with the long-established Hollywood policy of reserving choice film fare until after the annual summer slump, Mr. Warner said the system has created a "famine for Grade 'A' entertainment" and has in itself partly brought on the current depression in the theatre business.—United Press.

Casanova Programme

With the permission of the proper authorities the Casanova Ballroom has reverted to the hours maintained prior to the hostilities in Shanghai. Patrons may now remain in the ballroom until 5 a.m. A new cocktail bar, with several pretty attendants, has been opened and nightly after the theatre hot dogs are served free of charge. Another special dish is American ham and eggs. The floor show includes the Dixie Sisters, headliners, and the Spanish dancer, Francisco, who is playing a return engagement. The Dixie sisters are singers and dancers. Music for dancing is furnished by Apollo's Gauchos, a unit of ten men whose costumes and excellent music have added to the popularity of the ballroom.

Astaire and Rogers

Another feud of less spectacular proportions has been settled between Ginger Rogers and RKO. Under a revision of her agreement she will make two dancing films each year with Fred Astaire and two solo dramatic efforts. The studio has agreed to one month's vacation following each picture for three films and two months after the completion of the fourth. This allows ten weeks for each of the dancing pictures and a six-week shooting schedule for the dramas. Recently Miss Rogers has been going from film to film without a rest and, during the making of "Vivacious Lady" she was compelled to work nights for several weeks on retakes of "Having Wonderful Time," a routine she refused to continue.

"Navy Blue and Gold"

This service romance comes soon to the Nanking—with James Stewart, Robert Young, Tom Brown, Florence Rice, and Billie Burke.

The Louis-Mann Fight

The Louis-Mann Fight showing today at the Cathay Theatre in conjunction with "Bringing up Baby," will give local fight fans an opportunity to see Joe Louis in action against Mann, a coming young heavy-weight contender in his tune-up fight prior to his championship fight with Schmeling.

Mann, a husky young heavyweight considered to be one of the few white hope possibilities, was knocked out in the third round of a fight that was packed full of action (while it lasted) and which helped to put Louis in the pink of condition for his championship battle.

Girl of Seventeen is Film Sensation

Corinne Luchaire is the secret sensation of the film world.

I was dining at Grosvenor House, write Seton Margrave in the "Daily Mail," when my companion suddenly exclaimed, "Who is that gorgeously beautiful girl? Surely she must be a film star."

"That," I said, "is Corinne Luchaire."

"Never heard of her."

"You will," I replied. "By the end of this year her name will be in electric lights wherever films are seen."

Every producer in London and Hollywood who has seen her has tried to sign a contract with Corinne Luchaire because of her success in the French film "Prison Without Bars."

Mary Pickford describes her as "the direct successor to Greta Garbo."

Before that, Albert de Courville told me it was his ambition to make an English version of "Prison Without Bars" and introduce Corinne to the English-speaking world.

Albert de Courville will, however, direct the second Corinne film to be made in Paris during July and August under the title "Sisters."

The first round in the competition for Corinne has been won by Alexander Korda. He is to produce "Prison Without Bars" at Denham, and is to give to a young Englishman, Maxwell Wray, the opportunity of a lifetime as its director.

Corinne with her father, mother and brother, has been in London for some days, but her presence has been kept very secret.

Alexander Korda thinks many people may find Luchaire difficult to pronounce, and has suggested the name of Corinne Davel.

Corinne is tall, blonde, blue-eyed serious and a very sweet seventeen.

Newspaper Story

"This Man Is News" is the title of the picture which is being made for Paramount by the new co-operative company Pinebrook. It is another story of life behind the scenes of a newspaper office, but this time with the accent on Scotland, which should make a refreshing change. The director David MacDonald is a Scotsman, so are the two authors Robert McDougal and Allan MacKinnon. Barry K. Barnes, the rising young star who made rather an unpropitious début in "The Return of the Scarlet Pimpernel" and followed it up with good work in "Who Goes Next?" plays the leading part. He too is a Scotsman, as are Alistair Sim and young Bobbie Gall, who play the news editor and office boy respectively.

It is surprising that British film producers do not exploit the humours of native and local dialect more. There are the Gracie Fields and George Formby comedies to be sure, but there are plenty of others.

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

AERIAL CODE WANTED

Nobody wants a European War. But there are numbers of confusing and contradictory expedients advocated in order to prevent it. Underlying all is fear—one may almost say terror—of the destructive capacity of modern engines of war. No one now is safe, not even the high governmental authorities who hitherto have been able to direct hostilities in safety from a distance. Destruction and loss of life on a large scale are not all that is feared. Considerable as these are bound to be, judging even by the comparatively small instances in the wars now being waged between ill-equipped forces, the widespread alarm and ghastly panic which must ensue from bombardment by highly equipped air forces may produce unimaginable results undermining the whole order of our present civilization. In fact, the nations—indeed humanity itself—is contemplating its impending doom. Man's ingenuity has far outrun his moral sense and, terror-stricken, he watches the development of the work of his own hands; not the so-called act of God — the earthquake, the flood or the volcanic eruption, for which he has no responsibility — but a far more devastating scourge which he has himself invented and prepared. All defences must be puny and ineffective, and preparations for still greater violence can only add more fuel to the flames. Salvation can only be found in a supreme moral endeavour to guide man's mind into another direction. This requires greater effort, more courage and more determination than appears to be conceivable, judging by the acquiescent drift towards the abyss which one and all see staring before them.

These words of Lord Ponsonby's introducing an article in the "Nineteenth Century and After" on "The Present Outlook" is a sufficiently graphic description of what warfare will amount to in the future, and the devastation it may wreak upon civilization, to add point to the important statement which Mr. Neville Chamberlain made on Tuesday, in the House of Commons on the subject of aerial warfare. Not only does it add point, but it gives very real reasons while the world should again attempt to bring about some international code governing aerial warfare whereby much of its horror may be mitigated.

Students of military science have witnessed a considerable change of opinion regarding warfare since the Great War. It may be perfectly true that, generally speaking, the introduction of new weapons has not meant the fashioning of new laws, but there has been a decided departure from the old concepts of war, and the formulation of brutal doctrines which are given by their sponsors all the dignity of military necessity. Thus has arisen the theory that in the future not armies but whole peoples will be at war, that it will no longer be necessary to differentiate between the soldier and the civilian, and that, based on such a proposition, the destruction of civilian life in sufficient quantity to strike dismay and demoralization into the enemy is the best means of securing speedy victory. The arrival of the aeroplane has had much to do with the formation of that doctrine, and unfortunately, if it is to be generally accepted, it must carry with it the corollary that the best defence in such a case would be one of reprisal. The bestial picture is thereby conjured up of the armed forces of the nations seeking to wrest victory out of the sufferings they can inflict upon the defenceless civilian. The world has seen enough of this sort of thing in China and Spain to realize what will happen if well-equipped nations enter into conflict. The desolation which has been spread in Spain and China would be as nothing compared with what would be wrought in such circumstances, and the time has come for mankind to take stock of the situation and seek to discover what can be done to prevent the wholesale suicide of a great civilization. It may prove a bootless mission to explore ways and means of preventing war becoming even more horrible than it is at the present time, but there is clearly a duty laid upon the shoulders of statesmen of today to find methods whereby the rule of tooth and claw shall be prevented from again dominating the world.

Mr. Chamberlain has rightly pointed out that the principles underlying certain rules of International Law, established for land and marine warfare are applicable to combat in the air. It is wrong to bomb civilians; the only permissible targets must be military objectives capable of identification as such, and even then reasonable care must be taken in attacking them. These are inferences to be drawn from the state of International Law as it at present stands, and, were they generally accepted, there would be little need for the new code which the British Prime Minister contemplates drafting for submission to the rest of the world. Whatever he may prepare will receive a mixed reception. The new school of military thought, relying upon terrorism to secure military objectives will naturally oppose being deprived of the most potent weapon for the prosecution of their policy. Despite all the object lessons which have been given, showing that all the needless slaughter which has been brought about by indiscriminate bombing produces no speedy demoralizing effect, it is doubtful whether that type of thought would ever permit the rule of law to be applied to the conduct of such warfare, and that thought is justified by the evidence of trends in the opposite direction. That should not be taken as indicating that no attempt should be made to codify laws controlling aerial warfare. The fact that in the past other rules have been more or less observed, suggests that the new ones might secure something of that treatment, though it is by no means sure, should the world ever again embark upon hostilities, that either they or their predecessors would stand up long against what might be conceived to be the military necessities of a given situation. Nevertheless no opportunity should be missed of reducing the possible inhumaneness of future wars, and, if the nations of the world can be persuaded to accept such a code as Mr. Chamberlain contemplates, the time may also be not far distant when means will be found for coercing transgressors into better ways. Without some such provision the new code might prove as valueless as quite a number of other international agreements.

Fast Scoring

Hitting out in the characteristic manner which gained him admiration in the eyes of English cricket crowds but which was unfortunately absent in the first Test match, Don Bradman, the Australian skipper, playing against Lancashire at Manchester, made 101 in 73 minutes thereby establishing a new record for fast scoring this season. This included 15 boundaries, and, therefore, the cricketing public's slight annoyance in the recent Test should be appeased and expunged from record for Bradman's sparkling play has been one of the most attractive developments of the present cricket generation. Nevertheless, there have been better performances in the game which, this year, has resulted in all sorts of new records. Playing for Notts against Sussex at Brighton in 1911, Alletson scored 189 out of the 227 runs in 90 minutes. This included eight 6's, twenty-three 4's, and ten 2's. This was equalled by G.L. Jessop in the Gentleman of the South v. Players of the South at Hastings in 1907 when he scored 191 out of 234 runs also in ninety minutes. This included five 6's and thirty 4's P.G.H. Fender playing for Surrey against Northamptonshire at Northampton in 1920 hit 113 runs in 42 minutes and this score included five 6's and sixteen 4's. He reached his century after 35 minutes' batting. These, of course, are phenomenal performances for since 1934 when Sir Walter Lawrence presented his trophy for the quickest hundred of the season the lowest time of the winners has been 63 minutes, but even then it ought to silence the popular clamour for faster and brighter cricket.

The Withdrawal Plan

The unanimous adoption of the British plan for the withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain, by the Non-Intervention Committee on Tuesday, is the long awaited step towards a general settlement of a number of European problems, including the restoration of land and sea control and the granting of belligerent rights to the warring parties. The scheme which has still to be drawn up in its final form will then be submitted to the representatives of each nation member of the committee after which it will be formally approved. It will, perhaps, be better to refrain from undue jubilation until the final seal has been placed upon that enormously interesting and important document, for until this is done, there will still remain opportunities for some nation or other to throw a monkey wrench into the machinery. The question of financing the control and withdrawal has not yet been decided, and the Soviet Government has not yet expressed its willingness to bear one-fifth of the expense incurred. That point it is hoped will be squared up at tomorrow's meeting. The attitude of the two combattants towards the scheme as now approved has still to be ascertained, and here may still be difficult times ahead before the actual work of withdrawal can be commenced. The implementing of the Anglo-Italian accord, in view of the British attitude towards the overtures of Count Ciano, must await the actual withdrawal of the Italian volunteers, and there is a desire in both countries that this shall be accomplished as soon as possible. There is, however, always the danger that Soviet influence may prevail upon the Spanish Government to reject the plan in which event they would decline to allow the Russian assistance to leave the country, and thereby tend to harden General Franco's heart upon the same subject. If indeed something of the sort should happen, then it would be open to Italy to go ahead with her withdrawal in any event. It is to be hoped that such a development will be unnecessary, but there is always the danger that, even now, Soviet Russia would rather maintain the present unsettlement in Europe, than see the further development of the British policy of appeasement which must eventually weaken the Soviet's malign influence in western Europe.

French Health Report

A welcome addition to the information service of the French Municipality is the monthly health report, issued in English, which appears in this journal today for the first time. The French authorities have long sheltered behind an impenetrable modesty in recording their activities although their problems are none the less important than those of the Shanghai Municipal Council which has its own elaborate information service. On the question of health conditions alone, in these times, when diseases are epidemic throughout the foreign areas, residents are more than anxious to obtain the official view of affairs and the French health report is of considerable interest for it sketches the situation and describes the activities of the department in meeting a serious emergency. Overcrowding of the concession is stated to be largely the reason for the insanitary conditions causing the increase in disease, but the French authorities are doing their best to correct conditions. On the question of corpse removal, the authorities have adopted a firm attitude after finding 6,000 coffins on one vacant lot. Henceforth, the entrance and storage of coffins into the French Concession is prohibited. Extensive sanitation work has been carried out in disease-ridden districts and an indication of the anti-cholera work is that within two months 410,000 inoculations were given with a record of 21,233 in a single day.

The Sweep Again
"COR stone me," said the Sweep. "So you're going to America?"
"That's right," I said.
"Cor crikey," said the Sweep, "you could knock me down with a steam 'ammer. Cor sufferin' snakes."
"Cor," I said.
"I suppose you'll be working your passage, doing a bit of typing for the captain," said the Sweep. "You never know when that there typing might come in useful."
"You certainly don't," I said.
"But you'll 'ave to look out when you git to New York," said the Sweep. "They're pretty 'ot out there."
"'Ot's the word," I said.
"Why," said the Sweep, "some of them there lady typists could make rings round you."
"They could and all," I said.
And I reckon the captain would sooner 'ave one of them in his cabin coming 'ome than an old bald 'ead like you," said the Sweep.
"Too true, mate," I said.
"Peraps you'll see some of them there film stars," said the Sweep.
"Peraps," I said.
"You can 'ave 'em all," said the Sweep.
"Thank you," I said.
"Except Mae West," said the Sweep. "You can bring 'er back for me."
"All right," I said.
"I reckon we'd git on very nicely together," said the Sweep. "Cor luvaduck, what a piece she is."
"What a piece," I said.
"Something you could git old of, if you know what I mean," said the Sweep.
"I know," I said.
"Or peraps she might arsk me over to sweep 'er chimneys," said the Sweep. "Cor, stone me up a gum tree."

Britain Drafts Scheme Limiting Aerial War

Mr. Chamberlain Declares in Commons China Horrors Might Drive British People to Take Extreme Courses; Spain Incidents Deplored

London, June 22.

RISING at 4.50 yesterday afternoon to take part in the debate on foreign affairs in the House of Commons, the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, referred to the intensified horrors of modern war as brought about by bombing from the air. Mr. Chamberlain spoke immediately after Mr. Philip Noel-Baker, Labour member for Derby, who opened the debate for the Opposition.

The Prime Minister said he thought there would be general agreement with the remarks which had fallen from Mr. Noel-Baker upon the horrors of modern warfare. "Indeed," he declared, "if it were not that China is so far away and the scenes taking place there so remote from our every day consciousness, I think that the sentiments of pity, of horror and of indignation, which would be aroused by a full perception of these events, might drive this people to courses which, perhaps, they have never yet contemplated."

Mr. Chamberlain also accepted the remark made by Mr. Noel-Baker that it was wrong to lay it down that new weapons made new laws. However, he continued, he must qualify that remark with the proviso that new weapons might introduce new conditions which required, if not a recasting, at any rate, an elaboration of the existing laws.

The fact that there was at present no code of International Law respecting aerial warfare was generally accepted, the Prime Minister asserted.

Air War Limits Scheme

There were certain rules of International Law established for sea and land warfare, and those rules, or the principles underlying them, were applicable to aerial warfare. They did not, however, entirely meet the case which had to be met today.

Mr. Chamberlain reminded the House that the Government was engaged upon a careful survey of the whole position with a view to formulating a practical scheme, which could be put before other countries for acceptance or modification, in order to reach some international understanding on the rules of aerial warfare.

There were, at any rate, three rules of International Law which, he thought, might be said to be applicable to aerial warfare as fully as they were to war on land or sea.

Three Rules Established

The first, he went on, was that it was against international law to bomb civilians as such, and to make deliberate attacks on civilian populations. That, undoubtedly, was a violation of International Law.

The second rule, said Mr. Chamberlain, was that targets must be legitimate military objectives and must be capable of identification.

Thirdly, reasonable care must be taken in attacking these objectives.

Those three general rules, the Prime Minister pointed out, they could all accept and the Government did accept them. Obviously, however, when they came to practise them there were considerable difficulties.

Mr. Chamberlain declared emphatically that he could not too strongly condemn the idea that it should be part of a deliberate policy to try to win the war by demoralizing the civilian population through the process of bombing from the air.

That was absolutely contrary to International Law, he proceeded, and he gave it as his opinion that it was, in addition, a mistaken policy. He did not believe that deliberate attacks on the civilian population would ever win the war for those who made it.

China, Spain "Incidents"

After referring to the difficulties which arose in the practical application of the general rules he had enunciated, and having repeated the wish of the Government to produce practical proposals before approaching other Governments on the question, Mr. Chamberlain observed that he was bound to say that, in the opinion of the British Government, far too many incidents had occurred both in China and Spain, where those general rules had been plainly disregarded.

The Prime Minister then turned to the question of attacks on British ships in ports in Government Spain.

He repeated that, after a careful and exhaustive examination of all possible methods of giving aid to British ships attacked in territorial waters, the Government had come to the conclusion that it was impossible to do so short of intervening in the war and cutting across the whole policy of non-intervention, which it had been following since the outbreak of the Civil War in Spain.

Mr. Chamberlain denied the suggestion that since Mr. Anthony Eden had resigned the Government had changed the policy announced by the former Foreign Secretary regarding the protection of the British Merchant Marine.

The Government, he said, still maintained its policy regarding attacks on British ships on the high seas, but it could not undertake that in every single case there should be a British warship within reach.

The Prime Minister said that there was no foundation for the suggestion that British ships had been carrying arms or munitions. They had, of course, been carrying food, coal, oil and other stores of value in war and that was the reason they had been attacked.

The British Government, however, he continued, did not admit the right of General Francisco Franco, or anyone else, to attack these ships.

What the Government did say was that it could not see any practical means of preventing these attacks which would not be completely at variance with its responsibility of maintaining the policy of non-intervention.

Solution Lies in Ending War

Mr. Chamberlain declared that he had examined a number of the suggestions put forward by Mr. Noel-Baker for bringing pressure upon General Franco and he had, in each case, found that the difficulties were greater than the Opposition had supposed.

He had come reluctantly to the conclusion that, while the Spanish Civil War continued, the British Government must expect a succession of these incidents as also of the horrors against which it had protested.

The sole satisfactory solution of the question of attacks on British ships

British Plan for Spain Approved

Volunteer Withdrawal With Border, Naval Control Accepted

London, June 22.

It is officially stated that the Non-Intervention Sub-Committee has unanimously approved the British plan for the withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain, including provisions for the restoration of strengthening land and sea control and the establishment of observers in certain Spanish ports.

The Sub-Committee, after sitting for two hours yesterday afternoon, adjourned until Friday when it will dispose of certain details concerning a scheme of financing by the respective governments.

The full Non-Intervention Committee will now be apprised of the plan and will meet shortly to approve it.

The scheme will then be presented to the two opposing sides in the Spanish conflict.—Reuter.

Japanese Cotton Trade With Britain

Grey-Cloth Finished and Marked "Made in Britain"

London, June 21.

The imports of Japanese cotton cloths in the grey into Lancashire was the subject of a discussion today between the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Oliver Stanley, and Captain Sir William Brass, Conservative M.P. of Clitheroe, Lancashire.

The latter again asked Mr. Stanley, "Whether, in view of the dissatisfaction caused in Lancashire by imports of cheap Japanese cloth in the grey which were finished in England and then exported under British quotas, he (the President of the Board of Trade) will consider having inserted in all future trade agreements, in connection with quotas for British cotton goods, the words, 'spun, woven and finished in England,' as signifying an article of British origin, instead of only meaning that it was completed in England."

To this, Mr. Stanley replied that he would bear in mind the suggestion.

Sir William then cited instances when "goods are imported in the grey, marked 'Made in Japan,' and that mark is cut off, the goods are sent to finishers and later are re-exported to their markets marked 'Made in Britain'."

In reply, Mr. Stanley said he would "see to it in the future."—Havas.

Hongkong Police Raid Sunday Paper

Editor's Refusal to Give Contributor's Name

Hongkong, June 22.

The Hongkong police today raided the offices of the British-owned "Sunday Herald," owing to the refusal of the editor, Mr. Walter Keates, to divulge the identity of the author of an article appearing in the "Herald" on June 19 alleging that Chinese girls were recently sold for auction in Hongkong "for improper purposes."

The police carried out a search of the "Herald's" offices for documents supposed to be connected with the case.

The staff, meanwhile, watched with folded arms, without giving the police any assistance in their search.—Reuter.

Turkey Cuts Relations With League Mission

Sanjak Investigations Alleged to Be Biased

Geneva, June 21.

The Turkish Government declared today they have broken off all relations with the League of Nations Commission sent into the Sanjak of Alexandretta to study the recent outbreaks of trouble in that region.

Turkey's decision is announced in a Note addressed to the League Secretariat and alleges the Commission was not impartial and had gone further than it was authorized to do.

Turkey's initiative, international quarters assert, should be given the significance of an indication of principle, since Ankara held no juridical parleys with the League Commission, which met only the mandatory authorities of France.—Havas.

Coffins Deposited At Theatre Doors

Outcome of Bombings in Chengtu; Relatives Demand Damages

Chengtu, June 22.

The bodies of five persons who were killed in a recent outbreak of lawlessness in Chengtu, when bombs were hurled into a crowded theatre, now lie in coffins placed by relatives in the theatre entrance.

A placard is placed above the coffins, which invites all those who suffered injury in the theatre fracas to camp in the entrance until reparation has been made.

The trouble began when a group of men sought free admission to the theatre. When this was refused, the men offered to pay half-price. After the ticket-seller rejected this demand also, the men left angrily, but returned the next evening and, hurling a hand grenade at the ticket-seller, killed him instantly.

The group then entered the theatre and threw two more hand grenades at the stage and among the spectators, killing four persons and wounding six.

Fleeing through the exit, the men encountered the police, one of whom they injured severely.

The relatives of the dead and injured have now formed an organization to seek damages from the owners of the theatre, who are now in hiding.

At the same time, the coffins of the dead stand in the court-yard just outside the theatre, with an accompanying notice inviting all grieving parties to make camp there until redress is obtained.

Suits for damages have been filed in court against the owners of the theatre.—Reuter.

Britain Willing to Mediate In China, if Requested

Withdrawal of Japanese Forces Not Likely to Be Acceptable Proposal; China's Stand Reaffirmed

London, June 22.

THE British Government would gladly take any steps in its power, alone or in conjunction with other Powers, which would be likely to lead to a cessation of hostilities in China, as a preliminary to an equitable peace settlement.

This statement was made in the House of Commons yesterday by Mr. R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in reply to a question by the Rev. R. Sorenson, Labour member for West Leyton.

The British Government, however, Mr. Butler declared, had no information which would lead it to suppose that any proposal involving the withdrawal of Japanese forces from China would be likely to be accepted as a basis of mediation in the hostilities.—Reuter.

Hankow, June 22.

General Chiang Kai-shek and the Foreign Minister, Dr. Wang Chung-hui, granted interviews to a German press representative in which they expressed their views regarding the military and political situation in China as well as the possibility of putting an end to the hostilities.

The German journalist says that the conviction already gained by him in the course of a lengthy stay in Hankow that the spirit of resistance of the Chinese Government, army and the entire population is not broken and if possible even strengthened, was confirmed by these interviews.

General Chiang Kai-shek, who received the journalist at his headquarters, emphasized that China is resolutely determined to continue fighting either on open fields or by methods of guerilla warfare until her aim of preserving her integrity has been accomplished, even if this should mean continuing the struggle for years. The Generalissimo, who is in the best of health, left no doubt that the plans for the continuation of the campaign had been minutely drawn up and that he is resolved to make full use of all available resources of China.

Foreign Minister's Stand

The journalist goes on to say that the same unending will was shown by the Foreign Minister, Dr. Wang Chung-hui, who, when questioned concerning China's attitude towards the policy of the new Japanese Government, said that in his opinion the Japanese Government was inspired by the desire to bring the war to a conclusion as speedily as possible by other than military means. In this connection, the Chinese Foreign Minister recalled the utterance of a Japanese Foreign Office spokesman on June 9 that Japan had no intention of refusing to recognize the legitimacy of the Chiang Kai-shek Government. This, according to the Chinese Foreign Minister, implied that the Tokyo Government contemplated the likelihood of a solution of the conflict by peaceful means.

The Chinese Foreign Minister went on to say that China demanded unrestricted recognition of her sovereignty and integrity and that she is prepared to co-operate with Japan on the basis of full parity of rights and reciprocity. He said that it would be to the advantage of the Japanese to convince themselves of the fact that the will to national unity had now become a universal patrimony of the entire Chinese people, who were profoundly penetrated by the ideas and sentiments incorporated in General Chiang Kai-shek. Once this fact has been clearly comprehended by the Japanese, the latter would be in a position to lay the foundations for a far-sighted policy towards China which was an indispensable condition of harmonious relations between the two countries, he added.

Initiative Shunned

The Chinese Foreign Minister, Dr. Wang Chung-hui, emphasized the usefulness of mediation by a third party, since both China and Japan desired to terminate the hostilities, but neither country is willing to take the initiative for reasons of prestige. Nevertheless, according to the Foreign Minister, the moral obligation was incumbent on Japan to make the first overtures because she was the aggressor and her troops had invaded Chinese soil.

Dr Wang continued saying that the Government and public opinion in Japan were mistaken in supposing that the Chinese nation was inspired by hostility to Japan. Any such hostility was attributable solely to the aggressive policy of Tokyo, but there is nevertheless a danger that if the present war should be unduly prolonged, a feeling of lasting hatred might be engendered. Japan, he said, had underestimated the power of the National Government of China, which differed wholly from the regime of provincial war lords of former days. It was also a complete error to suppose that General Chiang Kai-shek pursued an anti-Japanese policy, the Foreign Minister concluded.—Trans-Ocean.

Mediation Rejected

Questioned at the press conference yesterday, the Japanese Embassy spokesman said that there is no room for mediation by anyone, including Great Britain; Japan will continue to fight until the Chiang Kai-shek régime is overthrown. The Kuomintang likewise, he added, must go. By way of clarification, it was stated, there has been no change in the Japanese policy as outlined in Tokyo on January 16.

Austrian Catholic Priests Held for Alleged Immoral Conduct

Berlin Anti-Semitic Persecution Continues; Dr. Goebbels Says Jewish Business to Stop

Dr. Goebbels' Threat

Berlin, June 22.

Dr. Paul Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda, announced today that severe methods would shortly be adopted to suppress all Jewish businesses in Germany.

The anti-Jewish campaign, which started anew four days ago, continued here yesterday, when many shop-windows were still covered with paint and, in many instances, with tar, which could only be removed with difficulty.

The Secret Police had given proprietors of Jewish stores permission to remove the paint, but some appeared to be inclined to leave the inscriptions until times were more quiet. One fashionable Jewish store in the West End was invaded by Storm Troops, who forced the customers out. This was the first case of its kind which had so far been reported.

Well-known Jewish stores, which formerly did good business, were yesterday practically empty.

Jewish shop-keepers were recently ordered by the police to have their names painted on the windows of their establishments in letters eighteen inches high and six inches broad. White paint had to be used and the inscriptions placed in the middle of the shop-windows, which obscured the display of goods inside.—Reuter.

Postal Ban on Jews

Berlin, June 21.

In the future, the Reich's Post Office will not distribute parcels containing prospectuses or samples, sent to Germany by Jewish merchants abroad unless these parcels are addressed to other Jews inside the country.

Before the distribution of any such mail matter, the Post Office authorities, it is also announced, will verify "to what extent the sender is a Jew."

Addresses of Jewish merchants in Germany still carrying on business will be grouped together in a special department of the Post Office, "The Section of Jewish Firms in Germany."

Another decree issued recently forbids Jewish concerns to take on any apprentices.—Havas.

Japanese Take Island Off Swatow

Swatow, June 22.

Japanese marines, landed from warships yesterday morning at Namoa Island, off the coast here, had completed their occupation of the island by nightfall last night. This morning Japanese aeroplanes made two raids on Swatow itself, the first at 7 a.m. and the other at 9.30. The targets in the two raids were apparently the railway station and the power station. The actual damage caused by the raids was slight.—Reuter.

Hongkong, June 22.

It is reported here that ten Japanese warships took part in the Namoa Island landing. Although the island was understood to have been fortified, it appears that the Chinese offered little resistance.

Swatow is in total darkness tonight following the demolition of the power station in a Japanese air raid this afternoon—the third today. Altogether eight bombs were dropped on the plant by four seaplanes. The railway station and the fort were also hit, but the casualties were small. The earlier two raids took place at 7 and 9.30 this morning.—Reuter.

U.S. May Use New War Debt Idea

Hungarian Plan Likely to Be Considered as Basis; "Trial Balloon" First

Washington, June 21.

Acceptance of the Hungarian plan for the reduction of Europe's war debts to the United States may be urged in a special message to Congress by President Roosevelt next session, usually reliable executive sources declared today.

It was understood that the President wished to offer the plan as a "trial balloon" to test American sentiment on a revision of the war debt agreements. Some members of the Administration believe the public would warmly receive any programme which would result in resumption of payments on the debt.

The Ambassador to London, Mr. Joseph Kennedy, was understood to carry British assurances that the proposal would be carefully considered, but enactment of revised legislation on the debt problem would have to hurdle the powerful Congressional bloc under the leadership of Mr. Hiram Johnson, Republican Senator from California, which is opposed to any settlement which would reduce or eliminate the debt's interest.

"No Diplomatic Action"

Meanwhile in discussing legislative affairs, the President said he took exception to news stories referring to the recently-adjourned session as the "U.S.$13,000,000,000 Congress." He pointed out that despite huge authorizations for spending no appropriations had been made.

Mr. Roosevelt confirmed earlier reports that no diplomatic action would be taken in connection with the espionage trial in New York in which Germany was accused of maintaining a huge spy ring in America.

This morning the President conferred with Mr. Kennedy on general international problems.—United Press

Australia to Adhere To Iron Ore Embargo

Contracts Already Made To be Fulfilled

Canberra, June 22.

Mr. J. A. Lyons, Prime Minister, today announced the Government's decision to adhere to its embargo on exports of iron ore.

The Government would, however, permit the export of 89,094 tons of iron ore to Japan, and between 55,000 and 60,000 tons to the United States, in order to fulfil contracts for these consignments concluded before May 19, Mr. Lyons stated.—Reuter.

Yangtze Position Critical

Chinese Try to Stem Japanese Drive on Taihu; Three New Defence Lines Prepared and Manned

Hankow, June 22.

FIGHTING is going on at present in the vicinity of Taihu, where the situation is said to be critical, the Chinese military spokesman declared today.

Taihu is on the north bank of the Yangtze near the Hupeh-Anhwei border, north of Matung, where the Chinese boom is situated.

Continuing their "relentless drive" westward along the north bank of the Yangtze, the spokesman went on, the Japanese, after the occupation of Tsienshan, launched a "vigorous assault" on Chinese positions at Taihu, from which, the spokesman declared, the Japanese hope to advance southward towards Susung, south-west of Tsienshan, for a drive into Hupeh province via Huangmei.

The breathing space afforded by the Yellow River floods to the Chinese armies is being feverishly used by the Chinese to reorganize and take up positions to defend Hankow from the north-west, in addition to the defences already taken against an attack along the Yangtze.

The new Chinese line now stated to have been formed is more or less a straight line running diagonally across Honan province from Kunghsien, 35 miles west of Chengchow, on the Lunghai at the northernmost extremity, through Hsucheng, on the Peiping-Hankow Railway 60 miles south of Chengchow, to Kushih, in the corner where south Honan joins Anhwei at the southernmost extremity.

This, which will be the first line of defence, is under the command of General Tang En-po, with headquarters at Hsucheng. Behind this, a second line has been prepared running diagonally in a south-easterly direction across the Peiping-Hankow Railway at Sinyang.

Second Line Manned

Troops under General Sun Lien-chung, with headquarters at Sinyang, are already stated to have taken up positions on this line to act as a nucleus round which the armies retreating from the first line, should it be broken, would reform.

Behind this second line, there is still another third line running in a semi-circle from Wushengkwan, on the Peiping-Hankow Railway at the border of Honan and Hupeh provinces, through Macheng, east of Hankow, across the Yangtze to the south bank, where the major stand will be attempted.

This line will be stocked by fresh troops, supported by all the new supplies of artillery and mechanised units.

Guarding the flanks of these three main lines running diagonally across the Peiping-Hankow Railway are two forces: one to the north along the Lunghai between Kunghsien and Tungkwan and southward from Tungkwan along the Tapishan mountains, and the other to the south running southward from Kushih through Macheng to the Yangtze.

The northern flank is composed of a portion of the forces withdrawn from Lanfeng, Kaifeng and Chengchow combined with those formerly stationed in the western section of the Lunghai. They are under the command of General Chen Chien, with headquarters at Loyang.

Southern Flank Split

The southern flank is split into two entities. One is composed of troops withdrawn from the Tientsin-Pukow Railway front and under the command of General Li Tsung-jen, with headquarters at Kushih. Their task is to protect the right flank on the Peiping-Hankow Railway.

The other entity is under the command of General Chang Fah-kwei, the famous "Ironsides" general, with headquarters at Kiukiang. Their task is to hold off an attack along the Yangtze and later fall back on Macheng.

It is stated that the total number of forces employed in the defence of Hankow will be 60 divisions. It is impossible to obtain any official figures of the newly-organized artillery and mechanical units, but information from usually reliable sources indicates that the organization of 30 artillery regiments has been completed and that the Chinese army has obtained 1,200 new tanks.

The new artillery units will be equipped with 380 field pieces from the U.S.S.R. and 300 from other countries.

The Soviet guns are 72 millimetre guns. There are also some six-inch guns.

The tanks are mainly of light and medium weight.

While undoubtedly these new guns and tanks will be used in the defence of Hankow, it is reliably learned that only part of newly arrived armaments will be so used. Many will be kept in reserve for a possible later battle west of Hunan.

Relief for Refugees

The Yellow River flood was discussed at an informal conference today between Dr. H. Kung, President of the Executive Yuan, Mr. Kung Hsiang-yung, former Chairman of the Yellow River Conservancy Board, and Mr. Ching Feng, former Secretary-General of the National Economic Council.

It is understood that the Chinese Government will:

1. Rush relief to the flood refugees.
2. Devise means to repair the dykes.

The Executive Yuan decided today to float $100,000,000 worth of "Humanity Bonds" for the relief of war refugees.

To meet immediate requirements, however, only $30,000,000 worth of these bonds will be issued at present.

The Yellow River flood at Chungmow is about three miles wide and four deep, according to the latest Chinese reports.

The flood waters in Honan are said to be at present flowing in the direction of Taikang and Hwaiyang, 70 kilometres north-east of Chowkiakow.—Reuter.

Exchange Grant to S.M.C. Workers

"B" Class Get Concession To Meet Hardship Caused By Fall in Dollar

Consideration was given on June 17 by a joint meeting of the Finance and Staff Committees of the S.M.C. to a report submitted by the Treasurer and Controller on the question of a temporary bonus to members of the foreign staff of the Council serving under the grading scales and not already in receipt of exchange adjustment.

Having regard to the view expressed by the Staff Economy Committee in 1936 that, in the event of a sharp movement in exchange it might be necessary to reconsider the terms for "B" class employees, the Treasurer and Controller had given careful consideration to the question of affording immediate relief in the form of a temporary bonus to all foreign employees serving under the grading scales, other than those already in receipt of exchange adjustment.

The Treasurer and Controller recommended that with effect from June 1 and until further notice a temporary bonus be issued to all foreign employees (other than "A" Class who are already in receipt of exchange adjustment) serving under the grading scales, the bonus to be computed on monthly pay, exclusive of assessed allowances, and to be excluded from superannuation and pension computations.

The joint meeting unanimously endorsed the recommendation of the Treasurer and Controller that a temporary bonus be issued and recommended to the Council that the amount of the bonus from June 1 be 8 per cent, subject to a maximum payment of $50 per mensem in any one case and subject to reconsideration when considered necessary. This was approved by the Council on June 22.

Superannuation Fund Transfers

The Joint Meeting of the Finance and Staff Committees also considered a report from the Treasurer and Controller in which he referred to the impracticability of effecting transfers on request by employees into alternative currency funds at the present time under the conditions set out in the Terms and Conditions of Service. Having regard to the serious fall in exchange, the Treasurer and Controller expressed the opinion that immediate steps be taken to reassure employees in regard to the position of their Superannuation Funds. He recommended that with effect from June 1, 1938, and until further notice, issue of superannuation moneys on termination of service in respect to all foreign employees who have served for a period of three years or more be assessed at a rate of not less than 1s. to the dollar, with similar adjustments in respect of U.S. dollars or yen; funds already subject to exchange compensation under existing Terms of Service to be excluded from the measure. The Treasurer and Controller pointed out that under his proposal the calamitous effect of the fall in exchange will be shared to a reasonable extent between the Council and its employees, and the Council's inability to implement the Terms of Service in respect of Superannuation Fund transfers to foreign currencies will be offset by an alternative and reasonable measure.

After considering the matter the joint meeting unanimously recommended to the Council that the Treasurer and Controller's proposal be approved and at its meeting on June 22 the Council adopted the recommendation.

France to Stand Firm On Hainan Is. Issue

Occupation by Japan Said Harmful to Paris

Paris, June 22.

The French Government intends to stand firm on the question of Hainan Island, according to well-informed quarters today.

Japanese occupation of the island, it is said, would be considered harmful to French interests guaranteed by the treaty of 1907 between France and Japan, by which France stands.

When the Japanese Ambassador in Paris, Mr. Yotara Sugimura, saw M. Georges Bonnet, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, two days ago, he declared that the recent statement made by General Kazushige Ugaki, the Japanese Foreign Minister, regarding the support given to China by foreign Powers, did not specially refer to France.—Reuter.

Mystery Shrouds Big Dairen Fire

Four Large Warehouses Destroyed by Flames; Loss Believed Large

A huge blaze which mysteriously broke out in the South Manchuria Railway Company's Dairen godowns. on June 6, is said to have destroyed four large warehouse with their entire contents, reports reaching this city state. The loss is believed to amount to several million yen.

When fire was reported, wharf fire brigades rushed to the scene, and all the fire stations of the city were also mobilized. The contents of godowns were of a highly inflammable nature, and the combined efforts of the fire fighting forces failed to bring the blaze under control, so that volunteer reserves had to be called out to aid.

The cause of this outbreak of fire cannot be ascertained and the Japanese authorities seem to be very reluctant to give any details of this disaster, as there is no reference to it in Manchurian papers, although there are indications that the mishap has considerably affected that port's activity.

Manchoukuo Emperor Visits Mukden

Populace Give Respectful, Silent Reception

Mukden, June 22.

Emperor Kang Teh (Pu Yi) of Manchoukuo arrived here this afternoon on a four-day state visit, during which he plans to visit the Manchoukuo Army Cadet College, and the Fushun and Anshan Industrial Districts.

He was greeted with a salute of guns, and the streets were lined with troops.

Thousands of school children gave him a respectful and silent reception.

The general populace was considerably impressed by the mass turnout of Mukden's garrison of Manchoukuo troops.—Reuter.

Japanese Primary School For Peiping

Peiping, June 21.

A new Japanese primary school is being constructed at a cost of $700,000 at Shuai Fu Hutung. It will be a two-storey structure and will have 24 class rooms, it is learned from Japanese sources.

The present Japanese primary school at Tung Chang An Chieh will be changed into a Japanese Girls' High School next year, the same reports state.—Reuter.

THE CINEMA

"Daughter of Shanghai"

Lan Ying Lin .....Anna May Wong
Kim Lee .....Philip Ahn

Mrs. Mary Hunt .....Cecil Cunningham
Frank Barden .....J. Carrol Naish
Olga Derey .....Evelyn Brent
Harry Morgan .....Anthony Quinn
Interpreter .....Gino Corrado

Excepting for the title, "A Daughter of Shanghai" which opened yesterday at the Grand Theatre, pleased the international audience by reason of its thrills, a plot which had to do with smuggling of aliens into the United States and the all-round fine acting of the principals and supporting players. The picture apparently took its name from an exotic Oriental dance which Miss Anna May Wong presented in a waterfront cafe an island off the Central Americas, whence she had gone to obtain clues which might lead to the detection of her father's murderers. Audiences in the Far East will appreciate the authenticity of the Chinese scenes—although they are laid in San Francisco—because Mr. Robert Florey, the director spent some months in China in 1934 and was prevented by the outbreak of hostilities last year from proceeding further than Japan on a second visit. In addition, Miss Wong learned much of her native customs and habits on her trip to China two years ago, spending some time in Shanghai, Peiping and Canton. The emphasis of this thriller is placed on the ruthless manner which the smugglers employ with their "protéges," mostly Chinese and Latin Europeans, murdering them in cold blood to prevent the Immigration Bureau from catching them with the evidence. Mr. Philip Ahn, playing opposite to Miss Wong, is a worthy foil, while second honours go to Messrs. Charles Bickford, Larry Crabbe, J. Carrol Naish (the man who commits his 101st cinema murder in this picture) and to Miss Cecil Cunningham, the gangster leader.

"Chicken a la King," in colours, is most entertaining, but the newsreel is far too long.—C.S.H.

"Night Spot"

Allan Lane .....Pete Cooper
Gordon Jones .....Riley
Joan Woodbury .....Marge Dexter
Lee Patrick .....Flo
Jack Carson .....Shallen
Frank M. Thomas .....Headwaiter
Joseph Crehan .....Inspector Wayland

Combining the atmospheres of the entertainment world and gangsterdom, "Night Spot," which opened yesterday at the Metropol Theatre, has elements of each which should please lovers of this type of film. A young vocal entertainer, who is applying for a position, witnesses a shooting. A few minutes later a rival gangster is killed on the street, but her alibi saves the night spot owner being indicted for murder. The law intervenes, however, and the singer, Miss Joan Woodbury, and a detective, Mr. Allan Lane, fall in love with each other. Action develops at a rapid pace as police and crooks become embroiled. The romantic "angles" to the picture are greatly subordinated to those of crime, allowing for tenser situations and more speedy development. Parkyakarkus, as Gashouse, presents a vivid protrayal, while on the side of law and order, Mr. Joseph Crehan, as Inspr. Wayland, gives his usual forceful interpretation. The supporting cast are all that plot demands.—I.P.R.

Two More British Ships Attacked

Valencia, June 22.

Nationalists planes today bombed and sank the British steamer Thorpeness and set the Sunion on fire in the harbour here bringing to 23 the total number of British ships attacked in the past five months. The Sunion was sinking rapidly soon after she was hit. There were no casualties on either ship.

The Thorpeness was bombed once before on January 20 when the ship was damaged and seven of the crew killed. —United Press.

banks with the object of attacking the Chinese forces defending the boom and putting their batteries out of action.

Fierce fighting is reported to be going on north of Matung.

According to the Chinese, there has been no change in the military situation created in the province of Honan as a result of the floods. The water level of the Yellow River has dropped about 1½ foot but there can be no talk at the present of the flood subsiding as the rainy period generally starts in July.

Japanese aeroplanes have been parachuting a large number of rubber boats near Chungmow on the Lunghai Railway in order to give the Japanese soldiers who have been trapped by the floods a possibility of obtaining food supplies.—Trans-Ocean.

Japanese Cross Yellow River

Hankow, June 22.

Japanese troops north of Kaifeng are crossing the Yellow River at Liuyuankow and, on landing on the north bank, are proceeding westward, via Fengchiu, in the direction of Sinhsiang, on the Peiping-Hankow Railway, according to a Chinese military communiqué.

This movement, the statement adds, is apparently for the purpose of reinforcing the Japanese forces at Ponai and Sinyang, on the western terminus of the Taoching Railway.—Reuter.

Chinese Raid East Lunghai Front

Japanese Driven Out of Railway Station

Hankow, June 22.

Although major warfare on the Lunghai front is being held up by the floods, the Chinese are extremely active on the eastern section of the Lunghai Railway, attacking the Japanese aerodrome at Kweiteh on the night of June 20, and withdrawing after a two-hour engagement with the Japanese there, according to a Chinese military communiqué.

The railway to the east of Liuho is said to have been systematically damaged by Chinese mobile units. On the night of June 20, it is further reported, another Chinese column attacked Lipatsi Raiway Station, west of Mingchuan. The Chinese are said to have occupied the station, while the Japanese, it is stated, held out in the houses in the town.

Using their hand-grenades with deadly effect, the Chinese are reported to have inflicted heavy casualties on the Japanese defending the station. The Chinese troops are said to have withdrawn at dawn yesterday on the arrival of Japanese reinforcements from Mingchuan.

Fighting at Tikang

On the Yangtze front, fighting is continuing at Tikang Village, on the south bank of the Yangtze about 30 miles to the south-west of Wuhu, according to Chinese reports.

Chinese troops last night launched an attack on the Japanese positions in the hills around Tikang, it is stated, "forcing the Japanese to retire towards the river bank."

Receiving reinforcements, the reports add, the Japanese counter-attacked at dawn today, with the result that the Chinese and Japanese forces were now facing one another in their original positions.

On the northern front, Chinese troops are reported to be launching a "determined assault" on Linfeng, southern terminus of the Tungpu Railway, and situated in south Shansi.

These forces, according to a Chinese military communiqué, "have penetrated the Japanese defence line, and reached the Japanese aerodrome."

Despite heavy Japanese artillery bombardments, it is reported, the Chinese troops are continuing to exert pressure on the Japanese positions in the suburbs of Linfeng.—Reuter.

Planes Active Over Many Fronts

Chinese Minelayer Forced Aground in Yangtze

South China resounded with the blasts of Japanese bombs on Tuesday as naval aeroplanes carried out extensive raids in three provinces.

Aerodromes at Kiennow, 100 miles north of Foochow; Changking on the Fukien-Kiangsi border; Nancheng and Kwangcheng in north-western Kiangsi were attacked by the raiders and runways and buildings damaged, a naval communiqué claimed yesterday.

Godowns and other buildings adjoining the Wuchow aerodrome on the Kwangtung-Kwangsi border were demolished as well as the aerodrome runways, the communiqué said.

Several freight cars were blown up in the vicinity of Litung on the Canton-Hankow Railway and tracks were severed in about ten places, the statement continued. Bridges near Tungkun, halfway between Canton and Kowloon, and a highway between the two cities also were combed.

The naval communiqué said that despite unfavourable weather naval planes continued bombing Chinese positions on both banks of the Yangtze River, inflicting heavy losses on them.

Minelayer Forced Aground

The raiders caused the grounding of a minelayer operating above the Matungchen boom with a direct hit, the communiqué claimed.

After returning to their base the pilots revealed that low-lying clouds forced them to fly at an altitude of 300 feet. At this time they spotted the 300-ton mine-layer operating above the Matungchen boom.

Diving down, the planes strafed the bridge and apparently caused the crew to lose control of the ship. The planes zoomed upward for power dives and one bomb crashed into the mine-layer's engine room.

Wrapped in a blanket of escaping steam, the mine layer headed for shore, grounded at the stern and settled down in the swirling waters, the pilots reported. The anti-aircraft fire from the mine layer was ineffective, all the planes returning safely.

Indians Supporting Chinese People

Pandit Nehru Speaks of Efforts Against All Imperialists

Paris, June 21.

India is unreservedly supporting China in her fight against Japan, it was stated here last night by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, former chairman and member of the Supreme Executive Council of the Indian National Congress.

"We have sent a medical mission to the Chinese Government," he added. "We are taking part in the world boycott against Japanese goods. In the Malay States, Japanese industrialists asked Indian workers to replace the Chinese workmen who had struck work in order not to supply metal ore for the manufacture of shells which would be used against the Chinese people. A telegram from the Indian Congress was sufficient to make the workers refuse the Japanese offer."

"We are guided by the conviction that Fascism is always the twin brother of Imperialism," Pandit Nehru added.

Visit to Republican Spain

The Indian statesman arrived here today from Barcelona, where he had conferred with the Republican President, Sr. Manuel Azana, and Sr. Gulio Alvarez del Vayo, the Republican Foreign Minister.

"We are becoming more and more of the opinion that the situation of our country is bound to that of the entire world, and that the strength of our movement depends upon the strength of all progressive movements," he said.

He recalled that the National Indian Congress had favoured Ethiopia's cause although it could have sought to weaken British Imperialism by a contrary attitude, and stressed that India held similar views with regard to Republican Spain.

In conclusion, Pandit Nehru recalled that the Indians had always fought by peaceful methods.

The Indian statesman is to leave for London shortly, and is to visit several European countries, including Czechoslovakia.—Havas.

Robbery in Hongkew District

Displaying cool foresight four robbers, three of whom were armed with pistols, staged a swift hold-up in Hongkew district yesterday afternoon. They entered a Chinese dry goods store at 93 North Honan Road; and while one was mounting guard at the entrance, the three others held up the terrified occupants, whom they immediately relieved of their cash. Before the victims quite realised what had happened, the ill-doers had decamped with some $300. The robbery took less than five minutes, no shots were fired, and the police were notified after the gunmen left, no arrests were reported late last evening.

Tokyo Not Considering War Declaration

Spokesman Denies Report In "Nichi Nichi"

Tokyo, June 22.

The spokesman of the Foreign Office this morning declared that the report of the "Nichi Nichi Shimbun," saying that the "Foreign Minister is earnestly examining the pros and cons of a formal declaration of war against China," was entirely groundless.

He conceded, however, that "it may be possible to declare war if Japan decides to discontinue her adherence to the Kellogg Pact and the Nine Power Treaty."

The "Nichi Nichi" had stated that a formal declaration of war was being examined, which aimed at "inducing third Powers to abandon their assistance to China."—Reuter.

Britain Drafts Scheme Limiting Aerial War

would be the termination of the war itself, Mr. Chamberlain asserted.

The Government, he said, would from time to time, take soundings with a view to seeing whether there were any favourable prospects of successful mediation. When that time came, it would be glad, either alone, or in conjunction with others, to offer its services to bring the lamentable conflict to an end.

Non-Intervention Progress

Winding up the debate, Mr. R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said that today's Non-Intervention Agreement had gone a long way towards putting non-intervention into practice. The plan was to make it operate fairly on all sides.

The improved observation scheme, he continued, would make it virtually impossible for a ship to enter a Spanish port without an observer or without being observed.

A Labour motion to reduce Foreign Office Estimates was defeated by 287 votes to 148.

Labour Accusations

In opening the debate on foreign affairs, Mr. Noel-Baker had accused the Government of failure to take action to protect British shipping, such as its predecessors had taken at the time of the Metropolitan Vickers case. He declared that the reason for this was the present Government's sympathy with General Franco, the Nationalist leader.

The Labour member replied to suggestions, "which had sometimes been made by back-bench supporters of the Government, that ships, subject to attack, had no right to the protection of the British flag and that they were trading with ports in Government Spain, despite the known risks, only for the purpose of reaping enormous profits."

He estimated the value of British exports to Republican Spain in the last six months at £2,500,000, apart from considerable imports of wheat from Australia.

In conclusion, Mr. Noel-Baker declared that it was a case where the Government seemed incapable of making a stand against the demands of dictator states, and, he contended, if only it would show firmness the general situation, in place of steadily deteriorating, would be bound to improve.—Reuter.

U.S. Keenly Interested In Limiting Air War

Mr. Cordell Hull Follows London Red Cross Parleys

Washington, June 22.

The protection of civilian populations against air bombings is at present the foremost concern in the minds of the United States people.

The Secretary of State Mr. Cordell Hull, Mr. Norman Davis, U.S. representative at the conference of the International Red Cross, and Senator Key Pittman, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, have recently revealed this interest in public.

Mr. Hull is closely following the discussions in London in the matter and is trying to find efficient means to suppress such bombings.

According to American diplomatic circles, the Secretary of State intends to submit an official proposal to all countries if Mr. Davis' plan at the Red Cross conference failed. On the other hand, if the plan succeeded, he would grant it diplomatic aid.

Senator Pittman stated yesterday that he did not believe it necessary to convoke a foreign sub-committee for an examination of the question, as Mr. Davis' intervention in London seemed to justify hopes for its success.

Well-informed circles here predict that the State Department will undertake diplomatic action with the other interested Governments before the London conversations come to an end.—Havas.

German Sentenced at Old Bailey

English, Belgian Bank Notes Were Forged

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, June 21.

A German photographer, Friedrick Beckert, was sentenced to four year's penal servitude at the Old Bailey today for forging English and Belgian bank notes.

The German, who was brought from Paris to answer the charges against him, pleaded guilty.

Beckert made plane trips across Europe and changed the counterfeit notes in Brussels, Antwerp, Paris, Vienna and in Lille.—Reuter.

Responsibility Unfixed In U.S. Train Wreck

Bodies Being Extricated From Submerged Sleeper

Miles City, Montana, June 21.

A coroner's jury was deadlocked here today on the question of responsibility for the disastrous wreck of the Olympian express which crashed through a weakened railway trestle into the muddy bank of flooded Custer Creek.

The total number of dead continued to remain a mystery as workers persisted in their efforts to extricate bodies from the mud and water of a partially submerged sleeper, inability to check accurately on the number of bodies washed down stream by the force of the creek's current complicated efforts of Milwaukee Line Railway officials to compile a death list.

Forty-five persons were known to be dead but the number remaining in the sleeper and washed away will not be known for some time, officials stated. The body of Mr. P. F. Schultz of Ladd, Illinois was recovered in the Yellowstone River 108 miles below the scene of the wreck.—United Press.

U.S. Said Concerned at Japan's Tactics

Warning to Sell Only for Cash Payments

London, June 22.

The warning issued by the U.S. Department of Commerce to exporters that they should sell goods to Japanese importers only on a cash basis is believed to reflect the U.S. Government's concern over Japanese financial tactics, states the New York correspondent of the "Manchester Guardian."

The U.S. Government, states the Guardian's correspondent, is especially concerned over the exchange restriction in Japan and Manchoukuo, and also over the confusion due to the new currency in North China.—Reuter.

U.S. Pastor Murdered In Iraq Village

Baghdad, June 22.

An American pastor, the Rev. Cumberland, was murdered for mysterious reasons by two unknown persons yesterday. The murder occurred at a village in northern Iraq, sixty kilometres from Mosul. French Explain Export Of Arms to China

Firms Only Carrying Out Pre-War Contracts

Paris, June 22.

Prior to the Sino-Japanese hostilities, France was one of the principal suppliers of arms to China, it is pointed out in official circles here in reference to Japanese protests of French supplies of munitions to China.

Since the war began, these circles state, France has been forbidden to transport war materials to China across French Indo-China.

At the same time, it is stated, French firms decided to carry out contracts for the supply of munitions to China which were arranged before the outbreak of hostilities.

The Japanese Government were informed at the time, the officials declare, and did not raise any objections.—Reuter.

Busy Month for S.S.P.C.A.

Society's Work Described In Report: Livestock And Food Markets Watched

Negotiations with the Public Health Department of the French Municipal Council in connection with regulations to govern the shipment to and landing in the French Concession of cargoes of livestock and the sending of posters and examples of propaganda to its sister society in Hongkong are only two of the many means adopted by the officers and members of the Shanghai Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to relieve the sufferings of the unfortunate amongst our dumb friends. This is revealed in a brief monthly report of their activities during May which has just come to hand. A summary follows:

The food markets in Seymour, Peking and Sinza Roads, where live animals are sold for human consumption, were visited on 24 occasions, in order to see if any undue cruelty to the livestock on sale was being practised. The Shanghai Municipal Council' ksennels for stray dogs and the French Municipal Council's kennels were each visited four times during the month, notices being put in the local newspapers concerning worthwhile dogs for which good homes might be found. The unloading of three livestock shipments for the International Settlement and of seven for the French Concession were watched for cases of undue cruelty, negligence, or the violation of humane regulations governing this business. Dealers in live animals came in for attention, no fewer than nine visits being paid to shops were dogs are sold and three to bird and other pet stores. Six visits were made to stables and riding schools. During the month nine stray or homeless dogs were collected, of which four had to be put out of their misery, and three suffering cats, all of which had to be similarly dealt with.

Underfed Ponies

This would seem to be a pretty good record for the single Inspector that the Society can afford to support, but, according to the report, much more was accomplished. A pony with heat-stroke was attended in a stable, successfully, it is a pleasure to note. Two unwanted squirrels were taken over from their owner, a good home being found for one in the Jessfield zoo, the other, which was injured, being mercifully destroyed. In a riding school and a nearby donkey stables underfed animals were found. Four of the donkeys had sore backs, and salve was supplied for these, while those responsible for the under feeding of the ponies and donkeys were warned. A member of the Inspection Committee has since been visiting the riding school and stables regularly, and reports that the donkeys with sore backs are still resting up.

A fifteen day sentence was secured at the Second District Court for a Chinese found guilty of plucking bristles from live pigs at the French Municipal Council's abattoir, and the closing was effected of a dog shop on Avenue Foch by the Shanghai Municipal Police for keeping too many dogs in very small kennels. On Avenue Haig a truck was discovered grossly overloaded with no fewer than 600 geese, all of which were in a state of acute distress. The truck was taken to Bubbling Well Police Station, where the geese were placed in four trucks, at expense of the owner, who was also fined $7 for infringing regulations by crowding so many of them into one truck.

Ownerless Donkeys Found

There is something particularly satisfactory in the case of an ownerless donkey, which had been picked up by the members of the Wayside Police Station. Old Ned was taken over by the Society and stabled at the Race Course, later a good home being found for him with a large garden, where he can earn his keep by pulling the lawn mower and roller. The new owners promised not to dispose of him without first notifying the Society. The case of another deserted donkey in the Northern District of the International Settlement was investigated and the owner located. A calf with a broken fetlock was discovered and transported to the Shanghai Municipal Council's abattoir for disposal.

An excellent home was found for a good police dog, whose owner, a Chinese brought it to the Society's office for disposal, as he no longer had adequate quarters in which to keep it; while a fine red setter that had strayed was taken care of and ultimately restored to its owner.

An appeal is made to those of the community who report animals in distress to the Society, Mrs. H. L. Ricks, to co-operate by placing the animal in an enclosed place or at least setting some responsible person to watch it, for in so many such cases, before the Society's Inspector has been able to reach the spot, the suffering animal has crawled away or been removed and all trace of it lost.

Seized Drug Proves to Be Morphine

Echo of Monday's Discovery On Moller Vessel

Discovered through the alertness of a Chinese Customs Inspector about ten lb. of morphine were seized by the Customs authorities on Monday.

As reported in yesterday's "North-China Daily News", the seizure of the drug, the nature of which was not known until an examination was made later, took place on the deck of the steamer Christine Moller which was lying alongside No. 12 pontoon prior to sailing for Yangtze river ports early yesterday morning.

Walking along the deck of the vessel, the inspector noticed a tightly wrapped paper parcel lying amongst other cargo, and, sticking a sharp pointed steel implement through the parcel, noticed that when withdrawn particles of a white powder were adhering to the rod. He immediately seized the parcel, which was later found to contain morphine.

No arrests were made, and it is thought that the owner of the parcel, probably witnessed the actions of the inspector and made his getaway.

A CAPITAL tax ranging from five to twenty per cent. will be levied on all private fortunes or assets amounting to over 50,000 pengos.

Shanghai's Rainfall 12 In. Above Average

By midnight Tuesday night, the total rainfall for the year in Shanghai was just over 12 inches the normal figure; that is high enough, although many will feel that it is more of an understatement. The rain was due to stop falling late last night, as the eleventh day of the Chinese "rain calendar" came to an end. Today is the day of "Great Heat" and the old-fashioned Chinese will be wisely getting out lighter clothing.

Whether or not fine weather will set in today, only Siccawei Observatory would dare to predict, and even that August body is none too cheerful. There were quite a number of strong, sharp showers yesterday, however, and the clouds showed no real signs of lifting. Beyond that, it would not be wise to insist on anything, in view of this year's total rainfall of 31.66 inches, compared with the 62-year average for the same period of 19.46 inches.

Mr. Kennedy Discounts Devaluation Talk

American Envoy in London Sees No Reason for Move

New York, June 20.

He would talk with President Franklin D. Roosevelt on his political and financial observations in London, Mr. Joseph Kennedy, United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James, told Press correspondents today upon his arrival in the Queen Mary.

He denied, however, that he had any information on a plan concerning the devaluation of the dollar. He added, "I see no reason for a new devaluation because there is nothing to be readjusted in the Tripartite Monetary Agreement."

Mr. Kennedy is leaving for London again on June 29.—Havas.

Argument Over Cat Has Tragic Consequences

Canadian Farmer Admits He Strangled Wife

Cambridge, Md., June 19.

Sheriff Roy S. Melvin said today that Fred Brown, a young Canadian farmer, has confessed that he strangled his 22-year-old wife and expectant mother, weighted her body with plough shares and threw it into the Nantcoke River after an argument over a cat.

The woman's body, clad in a flowered print dress, tennis socks and without underwear, was sighted in the river bed by two fishermen yesterday and was brought to the surface by police who were hampered by heavy weights attached to it.—United Press.

Japanese Service Heads In Conference

Tokyo, June 22.

Generals and admirals held their regular meeting last night to exchange views on the China situation. The War Minister, Lieut.-Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, and the Navy Minister, Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, attended the meeting.—Domei.

THE question of a general reduction in working hours was inscribed on Tuesday on the agenda of the International Labour Conference for next year's session. The I.L.C. voted by 79 to 26 in favour of adopting the report of the Special Committee, which recommended a discussion of the problem.

Steamer on Fire in Whangpoo River

Minor Explosion on Board Japanese Cargo Vessel

Fire broke out in a small Japanese steamer in the Whangpoo River early yesterday morning, but after hectic efforts it was extinguished before much serious damage was done. The ship, the ss. Wanshan Maru, had just finished discharging a cargo of petrol and was proceeding to Pootung at 8.20 a.m. to have certain minor repairs carried out.

A certain amount of petrol and petrol fumes is believed to have percolated into the hold and bilges during her trip and the fumes coming into contact with a naked light, exploded, a small fire breaking out. Members of the crew and naval sailors extinguished the fire before much damage was done.

The Harbour Fire Brigade fire-float Poochi responded to the call at 9 a.m., but her services were not needed, as the fire had been brought under control on her arrival.

Japanese Repudiates Drug Accusations

N. China Regime Brings In Legal Quantities

Geneva, June 22.

Each instance of illicit opium traffic given in the statement on June 13 by the United States representative, Mr. Stuart Fuller, was contested by the Japanese representative, Mr. Eiji Amau, at yesterday's meeting of the League of Nations Advisory Committee on Opium Traffic.

Mr. Amau stated that the North China "Provisional Government" had authorized the import of 428 chests, which was in conformity with the permit of the authorities.

Japan, he continued, strongly protested against the charge that she was responsible for alleged illicit transactions in opium.

The Chinese delegate, Mr. Victor Hoo, expressed surprised at the quantities of opium that North China was importing. He pointed out that when North China was controlled by the Central Government no such quantities were imported.

Mr. Amau replied that as China did not exercise power over certain regions, the de facto authority might import.

The Chinese delegate asserted that "China controlled more of its provinces that Japan did its armies."

The President of the Committee intervened, closing the discussion.—Reuter.

No Reply Received to Danger Zone Note

Tokyo Advises Foreigners To Leave Area

Tokyo, June 22.

No replies have been received from any foreign Powers to Japanese notes on the "danger zone" in China, a Foreign Office spokesman told correspondents today.

He added that no replies had been expected. He was questioned by the correspondents regarding the notes, which were issued on June 20 to foreign diplomatic representatives and expressed Japan's desire that foreign nationals withdraw from the danger zone specified.

Asked whether Pakhoi or Tongkin Gulf will be involved in hostilities, the spokesman said "it entirely depends on future developments." He declared that it would be wise for foreign nationals to leave the possible war zone.—Domei.

ONE hundred and thirty Japanese families comprising 548 emigrants to Brazil and Paraguay sailed from Kobe for South America on Tuesday in the O.S.K. liner Rio de Janeiro Maru. Fourteen of the group will go to Paraguay and the others to Brazil.

Report of P. W. D. For May

Work Continues on Bridges And Buildings Damaged by Local Hostilities

The Acting Commissioner of Public Works in his report for May deals mainly with work carried out on bridges and buildings damaged during the hostilities, a number of the former in the area have now been completed, whilst work on others are being continued.

Dealing with the refugee problem, he states that the demand for refugee sites for camps has become acute, owing to the re-letting by owners of properties which had been temporarily occupied by refugees. In order to assist in dealing with this problem a survey of the Western District and Extra-Settlement area was made and a plan prepared for referance showing the vacant sites.

The question of factories in the western area is also dealt with, and measures adopted to restrict their establishment, as far as possible, to suitable sites.

Bridges

At Brenan Road over the Fah Wah Creek the concreting of the new reinforced concrete span was completed. At bridges Nos. 14 and 24 in the Western Area, West of the Railway, the construction of culverts, replacing the bridges, has been completed. At Bridges Nos. 22, 23 and 26, in the same area, reconstruction work was continued.

Buildings

At the Yangtszepoo Fire Station the work of converting a part of the single men's quarters into a flat as married quarters has been completed Work is proceeding on the setting back of the Cathedral boundary wall preparatory to the widening of Kiangse Road.

Repairs have been completed at the following buildings damaged during the hostilities; minor repairs:—Yangtszepoo Fire Station; Open Air Swimming Pool, Hongkew Park; Sungpan Road Branch Health Office; Alcock Road Gaol Foreign Quarters and Public and Thomas Hanbury School for Girls.

In addition to the foregoing, essential repairs are being carried out at the following buildings:—Chinese Police Barracks, Paoting Road; Chinese Police Barracks, Glen Road; Foreign Isolation Hospital; Chinese Isolation Hospital; Police Hospital, Ward Road; Abattoir; Gaol, Foreign Warders quarters; Penang Road Incinerator and Hongkew Park, Parkkeeper's Residence.

Due to the Japanese occupation of the outlying areas and the Eastern District, a large number of industrial undertakings have moved into the Western District of the Settlement and the Extra-Settlement Western Area served by Municipal roads. In order to avoid the erection of factories in localities where their operations would constitute nuisance to the occupants of prior established residences, measures have been adopted to restrict their establishment, as far as possible, to suitable sites.

Refugee Problems

Difficulty in transportation of coffins from Shanghai to the interior has created the necessity for the establishment of a number of coffin repositories. Such repositories have been restricted, as far as possible, to suitable locations and their erection in the vicinity of residences prohibited.

Plans have been prepared showing the areas suitable for accommodation of factories and coffin repositories and these have been made available to prospective operators of such premises.

The demand for sites for refugee camps has been rendered acute due to the re-letting, by the owners, of properties which have been temporarily occupied by refugees. In order to assist in dealing with this problem, a survey of the Western District and Extra-Settlement Western Area was made and a plan prepared for reference by the interested relief organizations, showing the vacant sites.

There were 269 blocks of buildings under construction during the month, 270 plans were submitted for approval and 145 plans approved. Valuations of blocks of buildings for assessment purposes made totalled 134, while 6,250 inspections were carried out by inspectors.

Louis Reigns 2-1 Favourite

80,000 to See Battle ; Schmeling's Glove Plea Granted ; Max Baer to Fight Winner

New York, June 22.

MAX Schmeling, a beetle-browed German, and Joe Louis, a powerful, young negro, will be the principals tonight in a ring drama of vengeance, gold and glory with the world heavyweight championship at stake. A crowd of 80,000, contributing a million-dollar gate, is expected to witness the battle. The bout will be the greatest attraction since the return Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney clash. The tremendous appeal of the fight was reflected by the fact that some U.S.$30 ringside seats were sold today by "scalpers" for U.S.$225.

Six hundred leading sports writers from all quarters of the globe will pack the press row to see a white versus a black, with Schmeling attempting to upset tradition and regain heavyweight crown.

Age versus youth, which was regarded as the heaviest factor in favour of Louis in the previous encounter, is even more important now.

Because of this factor, Louis reigned as 2-1 favourite and is likely to be quoted as 5-2 or even 3-1 favourite by the time of the fight.

Nazi-Jewish Angle

Great interest has also been aroused in the bout because of the incongruous Nazi-Jewish angle since Germany's idol will be fighting a negro in a bout staged by Mike Jacobs, a Jew.

It was not expected that Schmeling would receive any favours in the ring since it was no secret that Jacobs would prefer Louis to win since he had no assurance that Schmeling would return to America to defend the title if he wins it. The German, however, promised that he would fight in September in New York if he triumphs tonight.—United Press.

Schmeling Wins Gloves Dispute

New York, June 21.

The New York State Athletic Commission today ruled in Max Schmeling's favour by rejecting the Chicago gloves.

The Commission ignored the long thumb issue but condemned the boiled felt padding used in the Chicago glove as compared with the curled hair padding of the New York variety.

The German and Joe Louis will don the New York gloves tomorrow when they clamber through the ropes of the Yankee outdoor stadium arena to determine who shall come out the world heavyweight champion.

Schmeling and Louis will meet again on Thursday but they will only act as principals in a conference with the Commission and Max Baer to determine who the battlers will be in the next championship bout at New York this September.

Baer to Fight Winner

This announcement indicated that Baer would fight the winner of tomorrow's bout for the world title in September.

Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's American representative and manager, will not be in the German's corner as a second tomorrow. The Commission refused to reinstate him, giving no reason for its decision.

In a special poll conducted by the United Press, 41 leading sports writers favoured Louis to win. Thirty-two predicted that the champion would triumph on a knockout. Twenty-five boxing experts, however, picked Schmeling and nineteen said that he would win on a kayo.

It is noteworthy the poll coincided with odds of 9-5.

Tom Farr, who arrived on the British Liner Queen Mary, predicted that Louis would knockout Schmeling "in a hurry."

Regarding the long thumb gloves, the German challenger said "it would be dangerous for both of us to use gloves with long thumbs. I would not want to win because of an injury to Louis' eyes nor would I want to lose that way."

Skin-tight Affair

Louis, who has had bandages and tape subjected to searching inquiry before previous fights, found his gloves the cause of angry criticism from the opposition.

Aside from the obvious desire to "steam up" Louis with a possible delay, the glove critics based their criticism on the thought that stretching of the gloves at thumbs would thin it out in other spots and make the weapon akin to a skin-tight affair.

Jack Blackburn, the negro's trainer, had special gloves made for the champion because of Louis' abnormally long thumbs.

He explained that Joe's long thumbs required reshaping of stock gloves but that the gloves otherwise were in accordance with every provision of the Athletic Commission.

Although the majority of the fight game's veterans indicated that Louis should win, a surprising number recalled the remark by Max Schmeling the night he saw Farr go the limit:—I'm afraid Louis will be beaten before I get to him."

German Ambassador Present

Herr Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff, German Ambassador to the United States, and Herr Johannes Borchers, German Consul-General here, were among the better known Germans who had ringside seats.

Two of Schmeling's uncles, Albert and Agust Fuchs, also will be seated at the U.S.$30 seats.—United Press.

Million-dollar Gate

New York, June 22.

The sale of tickets and concessions has totalled $1,000,000 for the Louis-Schmeling bout in the Yankee Stadium today, this being the first time the million dollar mark has been reached since the Dempsey-Tunney fight eleven years ago.

The radio hookup will be the most extensive ever arranged for a sporting event and the fight will be broadcast to Canada, South-America, Central America, England, South Africa and Germany while 700 reporters will send the news over 150 special lines.—Trans-Ocean.

Yanks Scalped by Angry Indians

Reds Cut Down Giants to Win by 6-2 ; Two Homers By Rudy York

New York, June 21.

While the New York Giants bowed to the Cincinnnati Reds, the Chicago Cubs trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies today to keep just a jump ahead of the Redlegs in the National League.

With the league leading Cleveland Indians trouncing the New Yankees, the world champions were forced to vacate the second berth in favour of the Boston Red Sox who split a double-header with the Detroit Tigers in the American league.

Scoring three runs in the seventh, the Reds downed the Giants, 6-2.

Their rally in the traditional lucky inning resulted in Carl Hubbel retiring from the mound in favour of Walter Brown.

Bees Buzz Merrily On

Harry Danning lashed out a home for the giants but rival Goodman and Enrie Lombardi replied for the victors.

By coming through with a lone marker in the sixth frame, the Bruins whipped the lowly Phils, 4-3. Morris Arnovich hung up a four-bagger for the cellarites.

Tony Cuccinello led the Boston Bees to a 3-1 win over the St. Louis Cardinals. He singled and drove in two men in the third frame when the Beantowners scored all three of their runs.

Although the Red Sox shared a twin bill with the Bengals their one triumph was sufficient to allow them to climb into the second position because the Ruppert Rifles crumbled before the Tribe, 10-5.

Breaking loose in the sixth and eighth cantos for three runs in each, the Beantown nine downed the Wild Cats, 8-3, in the curtain-raiser but lost the nightcap, 5-4, when the Bengals scored three markers in the third frame.

York Homers Twice

Rudy York crashed out two four-ply hits, one in each game.

Frank Higgins was the star Boston batters scoring a triple and three singles in four trips to the plate.

The Sioux cut loose in the seventh stanza when they hung up six runs and sent Charlie Ruffing running to the showers.

Bob Feller was in form and fanned four men, walking nine.

Ral Hemsley, with a double and two singles, drove in three men, while Jeff Health homered for the Tribe.

By scoring two runs in the fourth session, the St. Louis Browns trimmed the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-2, forcing Lee Ross to flee to the showers. Sulliva, Health and Champman scored home runs, with Mills crashing out a double and two singles.

Taking a crip on the lead by hanging up two runs in the second inning, the Washington Senators beat the White Sox, 7-0. Al Simmons cracked out a four-ply blow and two singles to chase in four men.

Salt Lake Golfer Wins

Lincoln, June 21.

Edwin Kingsley, 23-year-old Salt Lake City golfer, today won the Trans-Mississippi Championship with a score of 68 on the final round on the rolling Shrine Club course here. Kingsley made the trip out and back in four strokes under par despite a blazing sun overhead.—United Press.

"N.C.D.N." Broadcast Of Fight Result

A brief description of the world heavyweight boxing championship fight at New York between Max Schmeling and Joe Louis will be included in today's "North-China Daily News" broadcast beginning at 12.40 noon over Station XMHD, 760 kilocycles, 395 metres.

Herr Hitler's Interest in Schmeling

Max Schmeling is pictured with his wife, Anny Ondra, as they were greeted by Herr Hitler after the German fighter's spectacular and unexpected victory over Joe Louis by knockout two years ago.

Optimists Hoping For Cricket

Local Weekend Schedule ; Continued Rain Dampens Possibilities

Play has been impossible for two week-ends already, and it is still doubtful whether the grounds will have enough time to recover from the torrential rainfall before next Saturday, when three important fixtures are scheduled to be played off at the Race Course. The Ground Committees of the various Clubs are pessimistic, as before they can consider giving their permission the pitches have to be shorn and rolled, both of which procedures take some little time. However, every idea will be given a trial in an effort to set the League fixtures in motion again.

Those matches that were cancelled last week-end will be left unplayed, as the League this year is being run on a percentage basis. In one case at least the conditions will be welcomed, since the S. C. C. Wanderers will now go forward without having to play last year's champions, the Nomads, thus manœuvring into a better position for the leadership in the table.

Of the three matches to be played on Saturday the one scheduled for the Cricket Club ground will be watched with particular interest. The Staff and Headquarters side, captained by Commander S. Boucher, the Navy all-rounder, will come up against the S.C.C. Stragglers, skipped by A. C. Sinclair, an equally dashing local batsman.

Equal Terms

Neither team has yet played on turf this season, and so will start off on equal terms as far as conditions are concerned. The Forces have some good batsmen to rely upon, but they will first have to knock S. Booth and A. V. T. Deane off their length on their way to a sufficient total.

Booth showed up very well in the Wood Trophy match played recently on the same ground, and seems to have improved both in length and speed since the beginning of the season. The Stragglers failed dismally against the Police at the end of May, when they were dismissed for a meagre 67 after setting out for only a century to victory. However, it is very unlikely that the same thing will happen again, as since then the backbone of the side has played more than once on the home ground, with greater success; and they should win on Saturday.

On the Recreation Club ground the newly-formed Parsee XI will entertain the Seaforth Highlanders. The former team has improved on every appearance, after rather a shaky start. Early in May the Recs played the Seaforths in a friendly game on the same pitch, in which fixture appeared many of the Parsee side. At least these gentlemen will have had a taste of the Army attacks and should be well prepared for their encounter over the week-end.

Ben Foord Knocked Out By Eddie Phillips

Solar Plexus Blow Proves Final ; Farr Next

London, June 22.

Eddie Phillips, promising London heavyweight, virtually ended the ring career of Ben Foord, former British and Empire champion, at the Harringay Stadium last night when he knocked out the South African in the ninth round of a 15-round contest.

Phillips is now expected to be recognized by the British Boxing Board of Control as the official challenger for Tommy Farr's British title.

The fight, which was billed as an elimination bout, was a thrilling one, crammed with action, and the ending was quite unexpected.

A right hand blow to the solar plexus paralyzed Foord from the waist downwards. The South African sank to the canvas and, although he was in complete possession of his faculties, was unable to rise before the fatal ten was counted over him.

Foord claimed that he had been hit in the groin.

Like a Whirlwind

The South African started like a whirlwind. Letting fly with lefts and rights he floored Phillips in the very first round, but the latter jumped up immediately.

Foord was on the offensive throughout the second, but in the third Phillips attacked only to be doubled up by a body punch. The referee spoke to Foord.

Phillips gradually gained the upper hand as the fight progressed. He easily evaded Foord's swinging rights and once dazed his opponent with a succession of rights to the head and body.

In the ninth Foord again tried to land a haymaker with his right, but the Englishman cleverly sidestepped him and then, as he passed his shoulder, crashed home a right which ended the fight.—Reuter.

Wimbledon Tennis Progresses Without Startling Upsets

Gem Hoa-hing Captures Fancy of Gallery ; Beaten In Second Round by Australian Girl

London, June 22.

BEFORE the Duchess of Kent and a huge crowd Miss Gem Hoa-hing, the diminutive 15-year-old Chinese girl, made a successful debut at Wimbledon yesterday, defeating Miss Middleton, of Great Britain, by 6-3, 3-6, 6-1. Miss Gem was repeatedly applauded for her court craft. She played like a veteran throughout. There were again no major upsets.

She won the first set mainly through her forceful service and forehand drives, which led Miss Middleton to make many errors.

The British girl speeded the game up in the second set, scoring with many well-placed forehand and backhand drives and forcing the midget Chinese to run.

Miss Gem, however, reasserted herself in the last set, in which she left her more experienced opponent standing with many great shots.

Same Fate

Senorita Anita Lizana, the popular Chilean girl, suffered the same fate as last year, losing to Madame Mathieu, of France, by 6/4, 6-4. She was eliminated by the same girl last year.

Madame Mathieu stood on the base line and returned everything deep, giving the Chilean few chances to exploit her famous drop shot.

The Men's Doubles saw the elimination of the Chinese pair, W. C. Choy and Ho, by Kukuljevic and Pallada, the Yugoslav Davis Cup couple, by 6-3, 6-3, 6-4, but Kho Sin-kie trimming Bill Robertson of America and Daniel Prenn, former German star, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

May Bundy of America whipped Miss Pamela Morrison of England, 6-2, 6-2. Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of America scored a victory over Giesela Enger of Germany, 6-1, 6-3.

Miss Grace N. Wheeler defeated Miss C. M. Burrows of England, 6-3, 6-0, to enter the second round.

London, June 22.

Mitic-Puncec, Yugoslavia, beat Procopio-Shaffi 6-1, 5-7, 6-0. Kuramitsu-Nakano, Japan, defeated Watkins-Weston, United States, 9-7, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4.

In the women's singles, Miss Porphew, South Africa, defeated Miss Smith, England, 3-6, 6-2, 6-0.—Trans-Ocean.

Budge Wins Again

In the second round of the Men's Singles Donald Budge, the holder, defeated Billington, of Great Britain by 7-5, 6-1, 6-1, while Lyttelton Rogers, the Irish Davis Cup player, eliminated Pallada, of Yugoslavia, by 7-5, 0-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Henner Henkel, of Germany, also advanced by taking the measure of Deloford, the promising Englishman, by 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

In the third round of the women's singles Miss Alice Marble, one of the leading American competitors, beat Miss Sheila Piercey, of South Africa, by 6-4, 6-0.

Mrs. Heine Miller, the South African champion, had an easy time today in the second round against Miss Dulce Kitson, also a South African, who lost by 6-1, 6-2.—Reuter.

Sabot Wins Royal Plate

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, June 22.

Lord Derby's Sabot won the Royal Plate at Newbury this afternoon from a field of four. Starting at 6-4, Sabot finished a neck ahead of Mr. S. Tattersall's Elgar, while Kybo was a further four lengths away third. Elgar started at 6-4 and Kybo at 4-1. The race was over a distance of one mile and two furlongs.—Reuter.

Gem Hoa-hing Defeated

London, June 22.

Miss Gem Hoa-hing, the little Chinese girl, made her exit from the Wimbledon championship today, losing to Miss Thelma Coyne, of Australia, in the second round by 6/3, 6/0.

Miss Gem proved no match for the hard-hitting Australian. She was continually pinned to the baseline, and spent most of her time making plucky retrieves.—Reuter.

Frankie Parker Loses

River Forest, June 21.

George Pero of Miami created a sensation today when he defeated Frankie Parker, 1933 champion, in the third round of the United States clay court championship, 5-7, 6-1, 6-4.—United Press.

(China) and Lyttelton-Rogers (Ireland) beat one of the best British combinations, Delpford and Jones, by 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

Kho served splendidly and volleyed in superb fashion. With Rogers smashing at the net, they made a brilliant combination, eliminating a formidable British pair.

Budge, Mako Win

Kukuljevic and Pallada proved too strong a combination for the Chinese, Choy and Ho, who failed to show understanding.

Kukuljevic scored many times with his fast service, while Pallada distinguished himself at the net with smashes.

Choy was the better of the Chinese pair, serving hard and lobbing skilfully.

The American holders, Donald Budge and Gene Mako, had an easy passage into the second round, eliminating the Belgians, Boorman and Geelhand by 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Complete results of today's play:

Further Results

London, June 21.

Miss Alice Marble, U.S. champion, easily entered the third round of the women's singles championship in the Wimbledon tennis series today. Miss Marble trounced Miss Mary Cootes of the United States, 6-0, 6-2.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, former world champion, drew a bye in the first round.

Lawrence Nelson and Owen Anderson of America beat M. J. Condon of England and L. E. J. King of Australia in another doubles clash, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2.

Edward Avory and Harold Lee of England created a mild upset by

Bradman's Century Season's Fastest

Australian Scores 100 in 73 Minutes Including 15 Boundaries

London, June 21.

Don Bradman and Hammond, the Australian and English Test captains, were the outstanding batsmen in the first-class cricket matches concluded today.

Playing against Lancashire at Manchester, Bradman made 101 not out, in his second innings to gain the distinction of scoring the fastest century in England this season. He took only 73 minutes to reach three figures, beating the time of C. W. Packe, of Cambridge, by two minutes. The Australian skipper's score included 15 boundaries.

Auguring well for England's chances in the second Test, Hammond scored a century in each innings for Gloucester against Derbyshire. This is the sixth occasion in which he has performed this feat, and he has now equalled J. B. Hobbs' record. Hammond's scores were 110 and 123.

Walford, of Oxford, was another batsman who distinguished himself, scoring 201 not out against the M.C.C.

Altogether 18 individual centuries were made in nine matches, the results of which were:

Australians drew with Lancashire; Middlesex beat Essex by one wicket; Glamorgan drew with Cambridge; Leicester beat Hampshire on the first innings; Notts beat Kent by seven wickets; Sussex beat Worcester by six wickets; Oxford beat the M.C.C. by nine wickets; Derbyshire beat Gloucester on the first innings; Warwick beat Northants by 150 runs.

Voce in Form

Voce, the Notts fast bowler, gave a glimpse of his best form in the first innings against Kent at Nottingham. Although he ended up with an analysis of five wickets for 62, at one time he had four wickets to his credit for only five runs.

Among the many notable performers were Peter Smith, the Essex all-rounder, who scored 101 in the second innings against Middlesex and then took eight wickets for 99, and Lomas, of Oxford, who scored 97 and 50 against the M.C.C.

Details:

At Manchester—Lancashire drew with the Australians. Australians 303 (Hassett 118, Badcock 96, Phillipson five for 93) and 284 for two declared (Fingleton 96, Brown 70, Bradman 101 not out). Lancashire 269 and 80 for three.

At Chelmsford—Middlesex beat Essex by one wicket. Essex 300 (Wilcox 91, Jim Smith five for 84) and 221 (Peter Smith 101). Middlesex 281 (Nichols six for 116) and 241 for nine (Compton 87 not out, Edrich 58, Peter Smith eight for 69).

At Swansea—Glamorgan drew with Cambridge. Glamorgan 398 (Dyson 117) and 334 for eight declared (E. Jones 132). Cambridge 338 (Bangley 119) and 288 for four (Gibb 123).

At Leicester—Leicester beat Hampshire on the first innings. Hampshire 342 (Hoit 116) and 231 for two. Leicester 535 for eight (Geary 160 not out, Armstrong 123).

At Nottingham—Notts beat Kent by seven wickets. Kent 314 and 214 (Voce five for 62). Notts 352 (Harris 113) and 180 for three.

At Worthing—Sussex beat Worcester by six wickets. Worcester 168 (Hammond five for 52) and 375 (Gibbons 118, Wood six for 99). Sussex 338 (C. Oakes 148 not out, Perks six for 114) and 208 for four.

At Lord's—Oxford beat the M.C.C. by nine wickets. M.C.C. 387 and 199 for nine declared. Oxford 307 (Lomas 97) and 280 for one (Walford 201 not out, Lomas 50).

At Burton-on-Trent—Derbyshire beat Gloucester on the first innings. Gloucester 287 (Hammond 110, Conson five for 75) and 284 (Hammond 120). Derbyshire 415 (Smith 112, Sinfield five for 112) and two for the loss of no wicket.

At Birmingham—Warwick beat Northants by 150 runs. Warwick 184 and 265 for five declared (Wyatt 121 not out). Northants 191 and 128.—Reuter.

18,000 Youths to Work On Olympic Stadiums

Tokyo, June 21.

Authorities of the capital moved today to make use of the energy and enthusiasm of young Japan to launch the gigantic Olympic stadium building programme.

Eighteen thousand young men, including 8,000 students and 10,000 members of young men's associations, will be mobilized during the summer holiday to work on the construction of Olympic stadium. The first building projects to test the sinews of youth will be the practice stadium and the cycling stadium.—Domei.

Rowing Club Swimming Gala in Chilly Water

Young Talent Displayed In Varied Events

The first of the Shanghai Rowing Club's midweek miniature swimming galas of this season took place last night at the Boathouse pool and despite the inclement weather and early season hesitancy on the part of contestants to brave the cold water, a fair response was made to the occasion. It is expected that next week's function will attract a considerably larger gathering of both spectators and participants.

Some fairly good swimming was witnessed and among the new swimmers of the year, several promising men have come to light. The men's one length free style saw J. Hawkins winning the first heat in 20 seconds, with J. Filman second, while E. Davis won the second heat in 19 seconds with K. W. Corneck second. The third heat went to B. H. McMichael, another promising young swimmer, with I. M. Hutchison second.

The boy members provided as good times for their event as the men, J. Lumsdaine covering the lap in 19 seconds, while Miss Peggy Brewer demonstrated she will be in the running for swimming honours this season by winning the ladies one length from Miss Sadie Beattie.

The men's tub race, which received enthusiastic response required three heats to run off, and H. A. Calder proved the best contestant, winning from I. M. Hutchison in the final with J. Filman third. An interesting relay race wherein the men, boys and ladies all competed resulted in a good struggle between R. A. Dodd's team and that of C. S. Smith, the latter just winning by a foot.

The water polo game which concluded the contest saw Whites team captained by H. A. Calder winning by four goals to two from L. D. Beattie's team.

Detailed resulted were:

Men's One length free style handicap.—1st heat:—1, J. Hawkins; 2, J. Filman. Time, 20 secs. 2nd heat: 1, J. Davis; 2, K. W. Corneck. Time, 19 secs. 3rd heat: 1, B. H. McMichael; 2, I. M. Hutchison. Time, 19 secs.

Boys' One length free style handicap.—1, J. Lumsdaine; 2, P. Brewer; 3, H. Farmer. Time, 19⅗ secs.

Ladies One length free style handicap.—1, Miss P. Brewer; 2, Miss S. Beattie; 3, Miss V. Cherneff. Time, 22 secs.

Men's Tub race.—1, H. A. Calder; 2, I. M. Hutchison; 3, J. Filman.

Mixed team race.—Winners: C. S. Smith, H. A. Calder, J. Hawkins, J. Filman, P. Brewer, Miss S. Beattie. Runners Up: R. A. Dodd, J. Davis, K. W. Corneck, E. Fabian, H. Farmer jr., Miss P. Brewer.

Water Polo:—Whites: F. R. L. Carey, L. V. Fabian, H. A. Calder, J. Davis, A. Pressler, R. A. Dodd, H. Farmer. Colours: E. A. J. Fabian, J. Filman, L. D. Beattie, J. Hawkins, J. Lumsdaine, C. S. Smith, K. W. Corneck.

Japan's Housewives Urged to Be More Thrifty

Septuagenarian Finance Minister's First Public Speech Declared "Fascinating"

Tokyo, June 22.

WOMEN have a big influence on the economic life of a nation and the success of the Government's policy depends on women's mental attitude and co-operation, the Finance Minister, Mr. Seihin Ikeda, declared yesterday in an address opening national thrift week.

Speaking before an assembly of 4,000 housewives, the Finance Minister said economic operations are as necessary as military operations in modern warfare. He pointed out that economic warfare is financed by national savings and urged the housewives and the nation to be more thrifty.

The septuagenarian Finance Minister's three-minute speech to the housewives was said by the Tokyo press to have been the first one he ever made in public. The papers called it an "eloquent and fascinating" address. After he concluded Mr. Ikeda was loudly applauded for several minutes.

Mr. Ikeda hoped the thrift drive will increase savings by Y.8,000,000,000. He deprecated compulsory savings.

Mr. Ikeda and other officials of the Finance Ministry have started a horizontal earmarking of salaries by six per cent. for compulsory savings.—Domei.

Marquis Kido's Views

Niigata, June 22.

All resources of the nation must be concentrated on the execution of China policies, Marquis Koichi Kido, Minister of Public Welfare and former Minister of Education, told newspaper men in an interview on board a train en route here yesterday.

Marquis Kido arrived here to attend the national congress of Social Welfare Commissioners. He said Government authorities are making careful studies of fundamental policies in China. He said he believed that the "highest and best policies" will be established in the near future.—Domei.

Planes Drop News On Chinese Army

Japanese Claim Troops Not Informed of Campaign; Wild Stories Believed

Taiyuan, June 22.

Chinese troops operating in southern Shansi may soon receive their daily newspaper delivered by aeroplane—with the compliments of the Japanese army.

This now is to be done, Japanese staff officers said, "to enable Chinese troops to realize the true state of affairs on their country."

The decision to drop copies of the "Hsin Min Pao," a vernacular daily published here, followed the discovery that Chinese troops were unaware that:

1. Gen. Chiang Kai-shek no longer had his capital in Nanking, and
2. Hsuchow had been taken by the Japanese.

On the contrary, officers said, Chinese prisoners taken recently believed that:

1. British troops were overrunning Formosa, and,
2. Soviet forces had seized Manchoukuo.

Many of the prisoners recently taken were natives of Hunan, Kwangsi, Yunnan and Kweichow provinces, having filtered into southern Shansi from across the Yellow River.—Domei.

Close Fight at Polls In Minnesota

Mr. Peterson Leads for Governorship

Minneapolis, June 21.

Mr. Hjalmar Peterson, former Governor of Minnesota, today led Mr. Elmer A. Benson, present Governor of the state, in the closest gubernatorial primaries of the Farmer-Labour Party in Minnesota's history.

Mr. Peterson polled 153,401 votes while Mr. Benson gained 152,273 votes in returns from 2,618 precincts out of a total of 3,739. Throughout the day the lead alternated, each leading the other on six different occasions.

Earlier, incomplete returns from 569 precincts gave Mr. Benson 43,408 votes to Mr. Peterson's 41,906. Mr. Peterson, right wing candidate, was polling a heavy vote in the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul but Mr. Benson was receiving solid rural support.

In the same number of precincts Mr. Harold Stassen with 19,516 votes was leading by a wide margin Mr. George E. Leach with 9,543 ballots in the Republican primaries to select a candidate for the race for governor next autumn. Mr. Thomas Gallagher was leading five opponents in the Democratic election.—United Press.

Report on Credit Curbs Featured in Tokyo

Scepticism over Success Of Suggested Pressure

Tokyo, June 21.

Local newspapers today gave the widest possible publicity to the report that the United States and Great Britain were preparing to throttle the extension of any further credits to Japan until she fully agrees to observe the integrity and priority of British and American investments in China and promises to continue the "open door" policy.

The newspapers failed to comment editorially on the report.

Leading Japanese businessmen, however, believed that profit-minded Americans would not participate in such a plan.—United Press.

Italian Divers Find Greek Hulk

Paris, June 22.

Three Italian steamers belonging to the Italian salvage company, Sori, which is now engaged in seeking anew for the submerged wreck of the British liner Egypt off the coast of Brittany, have found another wreck.

It will be recalled that the Egypt, with a valuable gold treasure on board, was sunk by a German submarine in 1916 and that part of the treasure has already been recovered by the same Italian company six years ago. The new discovery is the wreck of the Greek steamer Eumedous that was likewise a victim of a German submarine during the Great War.

A despatch here from Brest states that the Italian divers have already succeeded in salvaging 3,000 tons of hemp from the Greek ship.—Trans-Ocean.

Japanese Record Registered

Tokyo, June 22.

Two new world records for distance and speed set by the supermonoplane "Wings of the Century" recently have been registered officially by the International Aviation Association in Paris. The records of 11,651 km. for a continuous closed-circuit flight and of 186 km. for speed per hour were established by the Japanese-built plane in a flight around a triangular course covering three towns from May 10 to 13.—Domei.

Farewell Luncheon to Mr. S. Tweedie

United Services' Assn. Presents Cigar Box

A farewell luncheon to Mr. S. Tweedie, retiring Hon. Treasurer of the United Services' Association, was given by the Committee of the association yesterday. A silver cigar box, suitably enscribed, was presented to Mr. Tweedie by the chairman, Mr. Hugh Middleton.

Among those present were Messrs. Hugh Middleton, E. H. Adams, E. S. Barraclough, J. K. Brand, T. J. Goodman, J. Huxley, K. W. Johnstone, Ranald McDonald, E. C. Baker, A. Fullen (the Hon. Secretary) and Dr. A. C. Bryson.

Mr. Middleton referred to Mr. Tweedie's long connection with the United Services' Association and to his services to the committee since 1933 as Hon. Treasurer. Mr. Middleton gently pointed out that the Association was indeed fortunate in that Mr. Tweedie, unlike many treasurers, gave his colleagues plenty of notice of his impending departure for a tour round the world (laughter).

When the activities of some treasurers as reported in the daily press were taken into consideration, he went on, he felt they were more than fortunate, as Mr. Tweedie's accounts and financial advice had always been of the highest order.

In wishing Mr. Tweedie "bon voyage and a pleasant holiday," Mr. Middleton stressed the hope of all of them that Mr. Tweedie would again assume this responsibility upon his return to Shanghai. Mr. Tweedie suitably replied.

Amoy Commission Formed

Inauguration of a Peace Maintenance Commission in Amoy city at 11 o'clock on Monday was confirmed in a communique issued by the Japanese China Sea Fleet authorities on Tuesday. The statement congratulated officials in Amoy on establishment of the commission as a foundation for the rehabilitation of the city, described as one of the most important in South China.

The Navy Minister, Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, Vice-Admiral Koshiro Oikawa, Commander-in-Chief of the Japanese China Sea Fleet, and other high officials sent messages of congratulation to the new commission.

Huge U.S. Relief Bill Signed

President Hopeful; Facts From Figures Indicate Trends

Hyde Park, N.Y., June 21.

President Roosevelt today signed the multi-million dollar Recovery and Relief Bill.

The President simultaneously indicated to newspapermen interviewing here that some thought the business picture was better and was improving.

"There have been a few raindrops coming from the heavens," he said, "that will be followed by much needed showers."

He revealed that he would broadcast an address on Friday night on a general topic. It was believed he would take this opportunity to explain the recovery programme.

The President read figures for three months, indicating that the 1938 national income would be U.S.$60,000,000,000 compared with U.S.$69,800,000,000 in 1937 and compared with the earlier estimates of U.S.$55,000,000,000 for 1938.

He said the recovery programme constitutes Government recognition that economic and social welfare go hand in hand and covers both for it permits the immediate execution of aiding unemployed as well as agriculture, industry and business.—United Press.

Bank Examination Policy

Washington, June 21.

Mr. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, today told the press that heads of the Administration fiscal agencies had unanimously agreed to the bank examination policies.

He made the announcement in the presence of eleven leading fiscal officers.

He also prepared to report to President Roosevelt when the President returns to the White House, but did not indicate the substance of the agreement.

Earlier, observers awaited repercussions from the statement by Mr. Morgenthau in which he "served notice to all parties concerned that heads of Administration fiscal agencies must agree by midnight on Wednesday to a simple, rigid bank examination policy."

The statement apparently was aimed at Mr. Marriner S. Eccles, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, who recently sent a letter to Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, charging that bank examination restrictions and legal bulwarks were damming billions which bankers would otherwise be willing to loan or invest.—United Press.

Severe Earthquake in Central Asia

Many Villages Destroyed In Kazakhstan

Moscow, June 22.

A number of villages were destroyed in a severe earthquake in Central Asia a few minutes before midnight.

The centre of the disturbance was 60 miles south-west of Almaata, capital of Kazakhstan.

Loud subterranean rumblings, which preceded the shock, roused many inhabitants from their sleep. A government commission has been appointed to provide relief for the victims.—Reuter.

Hamburg Records Shocks

Hamburg, June 22.

In the first hour yesterday morning, shortly after midnight, a severe earthquake 5,000 kilometres away and in an easterly direction was recorded by the instruments of the Hamburg selsmographical station. The origin of the shock is believed to be in the mountainous zone of Central Asia.—Trans-Ocean.

Japan's Big Budget Figures Told

Tokyo, June 22.

With a decrease of Y.330,857,000 in revenue and an increase of Y.289,656,000 in expenditure as compared to 1937-38, the net budget for the present fiscal year provides for an expenditure Y.6,092,475,000 and a revenue of Y.6,328,245,000, the Finance Ministry announced today. The expenditures include the extraordinary military allotment of Y.4,850,000,000.—Domei.

Fire Breaks Out in Louvre Museum

Room Containing Paintings Of Spanish School

Paris, June 21.

A small fire broke out today in the attic of one of the buildings making up the world-famous Louvre Museum here. It was the building containing paintings of the Spanish school which suffered slightly.

Soon after the outbreak was noticed, the fire brigade was called out and after a brisk fight, doused the flames. No important damage was done by the fire, which originated in a plumbing workshop.

In their operations, the firemen made use of a most modern type of escape ladder, which can be let out to a length of about 150 feet and which aided them greatly is their swift work.—Havas.

Commercial Express Loses Case

Judgment Given in Favour Of Kung Mow Salt Guild

Judgment against the Commercial Express and Storage Co. and in favour of "Koo De Sang, trading under the firm name and style of Kung Mow Salt Guild," was given in the U.S. Court for China on June 21, whereby the plaintiffs secured immediate possession of 1,457 bags of salt, or their value, namely $2,914. Plaintiff was represented by Mr. H. D. Rodger, and the defendant by Mr. N. E. Lurton.

In the judgment of the Court, it was found that the defendants had wrongfully removed the salt from the plaintiff's godown at Pootung Point on March 6 and that the defendants knew that plaintiff was owner of the salt on March 14 but, disregarding this, converted them and disposed of them. Judgment was accordingly given in favour of the plaintiff, together with U.S.$10 statutory attorneys fees.

French Prohibit Coffin Storage

New Regulation Puts End To Practice; Report Shows Increase in Disease

The prevalence of disease during the month of May showed a marked increase, specially the diseases of the digestive tract, all of which is an indication of the general unsatisfactory conditions of hygiene, associated with the considerable overcrowding of the French Concession, according to the French Health Department's report for the month of May.

Typhoid and paratyphoid fever were never so prevalent and showed an unusually high death rate of 33 per cent. Unusual frequency of dysentery was noted. The eventuality of cholera which was expected, has appeared; the first case occurred in a refugee camp situated in Hungjao Road. The first case of cholera within the Concession occurred on May 27. Four cases were reported during the month, of which two were fatal.

Typhus showed no decline and had a tendency to spread, while it was expected to abate with the summer weather. However, no severe cases were noted, specially amongst the Chinese. The same can be said of relapsing fever. Scarlet fever showed an increase, while diphteria has declined. The total number of diseases showed an increase of 25 per cent. compared with the month of April. Death rate returns indicate only an increase of 5 per cent.

Preventive Measures

Apart from the destruction of germs by disinfection in residences, etc., special preventive measures were taken to eliminate all insanitary conditions prevailing in the Concession. The question of the disposal of corpses, always a source of serious danger to the health of the community, has been settled. To prevent the storage of coffins (over 6,000 coffins were counted in one vacant plot), a new municipal regulation prohibits hereafter the entrance and storage of coffins in the French Concession.

Pauper corpses until recently were buried by the Chinese Benevolent Society but due to insufficient space and unsatisfactory conditions of burials, cremation was enforced. Thus 905 coffins were cremated during the month by the Health Department.

The presence of squatter huts, their overcrowding by people living in extremely insanitary conditions, on the border of the Concession in the western district, has given rise to worries not unfounded since today's cholera epidemic came into existence from that district.

Parts of the Siccawei and Hungjao Road districts were placed under the control of the French Public Health Dept. The following sanitation was undertaken immediately: Removal and cremation of corpses, and half buried coffins; Removal of ordures, and removal and destruction of garbage; Paupers and refugees were compelled to settle in temporary villages built under the supervision of the Health Dept. Native wells outside the Concession were chlorinated.

Anti-Cholera Campaign

The vaccination campaign against cholera particularly, has received a new impetus. While the total number of injections performed during the month of April was 72,868, the number reached in May was 337,804 (against 28,960 for the same month last year). The total number of inoculations performed after two months of activities total 410,672. The record in a single day was reached on May 30 with 21,233 injections.

Prophylactic measures were also carried out by the French Army in the Siccawei and Hungjao Road zone, with the assistance of the Public Health Dept. Since January 1938, no less than 279,330 smallpox vaccinations were performed. At the Municipal Dispensary, Rue Am. Bayle, anti-typhoid inoculations have been given free whenever demanded: 4061 injections were made.

Mr. O'Kelly's Remarks May "Be Ignored"

Deteriorating Effect of Elections Cited

London, June 20.

The attention of the Secretary of State for the Dominions, Lord Stanley, was called in the House of Commons today to the reported statement of the Vice-President of the Eire Executive Council in the course of the election campaign that in the recent Anglo-Eire Agreement, Eire had "administered a sound whipping to John Bull."

Indicating that no action had been taken in the matter, Lord Stanley, in answer to a supplementary question observed that "the Honourable Members know as well as I do the deteriorating effect which General Elections sometimes have.

"Mr. O'Kelly's statement does not represent the view generally taken of the agreement. It may be well if I recall a passage in Mr. de Valera's election address in which he states that to promote harmony and goodwill among all sections of the Irish people and friendly relations with the neighbouring peoples of Britain must, in coming years be the chief preoccupation of those who had been given a commission of the Government.

The Dominions Secretary added: "I think in these circumstances the remark of Mr. O'Kelly may well be ignored."—Wireless through Reuter.

Britain to Keep Out Foreign Cars

London, June 22.

In response to urgent demands by the British motor car industries for protective tariff on foreign cars and lorries, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Simon, introduced a bill in the House of Commons yesterday to place the tariff on foreign cars under the provisions of the general tariff law of 1932. The Tariff Control Committee will then have power to alter or increase the duty to meet the contingencies. It is therefore assumed the import duty on foreign motor vehicles will be raised.—Trans-Ocean.

The final state of the Parties in the Eire General Election are given as follows:

British Commodities

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

London, June 21.

Rubber ruled firm on better foreign advices and a continuance of the speculative inquiry.

Standard copper strengthened on consumer covering and an increased speculative interest in response to the quota cut action by the United States, while lead advanced sympathetically. Tin moved higher on speculative buying.

New York Stocks

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

New York, June 21.

Firm conditions prevailed on Wall Street today, with most stock prices advancing from fractions to about three points, while a few issues gained from 4 to 9 points. Profit-taking was easily absorbed. The upswing was attributed to an improvement in sentiment in the belief of early Government spending, while shorts covering and foreign buying also aided the upward movement. Coppers continued to respond to the strength of the commodity. Steels strengthened on a brighter steel outlook, coupled with another boost in the price of Pittsburgh steel scrap by $0.25 per ton. Gold mining issues, however, were hit by Washington denials of devaluation rumours. Trading was active, with the turnover amounting to 1,460,000 shares.

Dow-Jones Summary

By Courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

Favourable factors witnessed on the Stock Exchange today included: another rise in Pittsburgh steel scrap prices, indicating an improved demand; the strengthening of copper prices; building material manufacturers expecting an upturn the second half of this year; and, the growing belief that an industrial recovery will start during late summer. Unfavourable factors were: the market having technically weakened owing to the sharp rise; the need for clarification of the position of the utility industry; the low level of business loans; the worry which is prevailing regarding the ability of border-line railroads to make their interests.

Foreign Trade of China for May

According to the monthly returns issued by the Chinese Maritime Customs covering foreign trade of this country, net Imports during May 1938 totalled $74,709,292. Net Exports totalled $57,417,921. January-May figures were $372,446,099 and $248,220,033 respectively as compared with the corresponding figures last year of $491,339,229 and $398,029,342.

U.S. Commodities

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

New York, June 21.

Trading was moderately active in the cotton market, with prices early advancing on higher foreign cables, Liverpool and Bombay buying, the strength of securities, increased textile activity and unwanted rains in the eastern belt. The upward movement, however, met considerable realizing and local and New Orleans selling, which, however, were well taken up. At the close, quotations showed gains from 8 to 10 points from yesterday's final levels.

Rubber prices advanced further today on the firmness of London and Wall Street, dealer short covering, akron buying and a speculative demand. Later, the climb was blocked by heavy profit-taking. Meanwhile, primary offerings are very small and at very high prices. At the last call-over, gains from 19 to 22 points were recorded.

After advancing earlier in the day, Chicago wheat prices reacted on professional pressure, reports of favourable domestic harvesting weather, hedging and liquidation. At the final bell, quotations showed losses from 7/8 of a cent to 1 cent.

Sugar prices early advanced on commission house and foreign buying, and covering on steadier London advices. Subsequently, the market reacted on increased hedging and Cuban selling. At the end of the day's trading, quotations were unchanged to 1/2 a point down from yesterday.

In the silk market aggressive short covering and a fresh commission house demand were inspired by a revival of speculative interest in all markets, but sellers were cautious and few. Finally, some importer pressure was applied to distants. At the close, gains from 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents were recorded.

Tin Quota Decision

London, June 21.

Last night's announcement of the tin buffer stock quota caused no surprise in London metal market circles, ten per cent. for the third quarter being generally anticipated. Inquiries among tin interests show that the over-night news from the United States, with the implication that the American industrial position is at last improving, is attracting greater interest than the removal of some of the tin industry's uncertainties.

Cautious observers point out that a sustained rise in tin prices cannot be expected at this time of the year, but omens for the early Autumn seem very favourable.

It is also considered doubtful whether the International Tin Restriction Committee's revised draft of the buffer scheme will adhere to the originally proposed pool limits of £200 to £230 per ton, although the communique issued by the Committee stated that the final agreement contains "no material variations compared with the original draft." Consequently, an advance to £200 per ton in the near future is not thought likely.—Reuter.

Berlin Bourse

Berlin, June 21.

The exclusion of Jews from German share markets and trading centres had been foreseen on the Berlin share market and the only effect it had on business was to expedite the liquidation of Jewish engagements.

There was very little turnover in all markets with prices continuing to decline. Later on almost complete stagnation set in.

Call money was quoted at 2 3/4 to 3 per cent.—Trans-Ocean.

Ranelagh Club Litigation

Two Actions Started in April 1936, Now Ended Dismissed with Costs

There was an unexpected development on May 17 in the Ranelagh Club litigation before Mr. Justice Farwell in the Chancery Division. Two actions were in the list for hearing. One was by the company against Sir George Hastings, founder and for many years chairman of the club, and concerned the freehold or "ownership" of the grounds. The other was by Sir George against Mr. Vitali Behar and related to certain share transactions in connection with the control of Ranelagh. There were counter-claims by the defendants in both actions, states the "Manchester Guardian."
